Others elected are Elwyn Sell, vice-president; Mrs. Robert King, secretary; Mrs. Donald Baker, treasurer.

Presiding president, Rex Winchell, introduced honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reiger, mayor of Onaway, who had visited the village for Mayor Exchange Day.

Members voted to purchase the band director's uniform. It was announced that several new uniforms will be ordered soon to accommodate some of the larger youths.

Band director Richard Jorgensen explained the plans for the Band Camp to be held at Blue Lake Music Camp August 17-22.

He was enthusiastic about the fine record achieved by the senior band, with the earning of all first ratings at the District Band Festival and a second rating at the State Festival. He expressed his confidence in the progress of the junior band and predicted that Clinton will continue to have "an outstanding band, perhaps, reaching 200 members in two years."

Graduation concert was announced for June 4, when there will be a guest appearance of trumpet solist, Carter Edgars, professor of music at the University of Michigan. There will be 19 seniors making their final appearance with the band at that concert.

Trouble Shooters Earn Tenth Place

CLINTON — Mark Wegner and his teammate, Mark E. Robotham, Adrian, made their mark Friday in the Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest at Wonderland Shopping Center, Livonia.

Selected by Lenawee Auto Skill Center as representative "Road Scholars" the high school seniors placed tenth out of 44 teams in the competition, earning a trophy, fender blanket and certificate.

In the contest, participants take a written exam which counts as 30 percent of their team's final score and then they race the clock and the other teams to find and fix several malfunctions deliberately placed under the hoods of the new Plymouth cars.

The Wegner-Robotham team found all the malfunctions, rebuilt the engine, had it running and passed the inspections line in fine shape, only to learn that nine other teams had accomplished the same feat just a bit faster.

Mark Wegner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wegner, Clinton-Manchester Rd. Mark Robatham is from Adrian.

Stemen Wins Modified Class

By NANCY MARTIN

It just wasn't right without the "pool" in the infield this year, and so the rains came! We did start qualifying on Friday night but, after the rain started, and Jim Martin slid into the "pool", because of the wet track, the races were called until Sunday at Manchester Speedway.

It was cold, but at least it was dry. We had a good group of cars, with Marv Carmen the fastest in the Sportsman Modified and Bill Younkin in the Stockers.

In the Sportsman Modified class, Louie J. Stemen took the lead on the fourth lap of the first heat, and won by a big margin over Larry Leidel. Dick Thiede and Sam Henson. The yellow flag was out twice in the second for minor spins.

Jerry Tryon stayed ahead long enough to take the win, chased by Butch Moull, Jr. Gary and Larry Blaisdell.

The wheels were flying in the third heat as Jerry Evilsizer and Leonard Hale both lost wheels on the front stretch in the fourth lap, causing the race to be stopped. On the restart, Jim Martin was in the lead and stayed there to take the checker, followed by Jim Hutton, Dick Slagle and Bill Cattel.

The fourth got a little "hairy" as Roscoe Stetton's gas pedal stuck and he climbed the first turn bank. Gerry Johnstone lost an engine and Dick Taylor and Dan Crittenden, running second and third, hit the front wall on the last lap. Fred Worden took the win, with Jim Horn slipping through for second, Dave Marcum, third and Taylor, fourth.

The pursuit had to be restarted as six cars collided of the first lap. Thiede and Carmen, with identical qualifying times of 19.02, paced all the other cars with Thiede first, Carmen second, third and fourth going to Leidel and Louie J.

Fred Worden took a bath and got his car washed in the Semi as he went over the bank on the back stretch into another pool of water. He was hauled ashore and continued in the race. Jim Hutton took the win with Slagle pushing him hard in second place over Cal Byrd, Cattel and Jim Beissell.

In the Feature, Butch Moull took the lead and was running so hard he ran right out the pit gate. Louie J. took over and held out for the win over Thiede, Curt Kelly, Tryon and Gary.

In the stockers, the "big man" was Bill Paxton as he won the dash, the pursuit and the Feature. Following him across the line in the dash was Younkin, Harold Heisler and Milton Wood. In the pursuit Paxton eliminated three cars on the first lap to take the checker over Younkin and Wood. The Feature was fast, going to Paxton with a big lead ahead of Ken Buchner, Heisler and Wood.

It's got to stay warm soon, maybe Friday night. Don't forget our big Memorial Day Trophy Races on May 29. See you at the races!!!

How about a nice scouring pad sandwich?

You don't eat scouring pads? Why then, do you add them in to your weekly "food" bill? Don't feel bad. We all do it. Coming home from the supermarket, we think: "Gosh! I used to get 5 bags of groceries for half that!" That's right. But years ago, those bags held groceries. Nowadays, you're buying more and more non-food items with your food. Razor blades, magazines, dust pans, glassware; even potted plants are now sold through supermarkets.

Of course, inflation has forced food prices up; but, much less than other basic needs. From 1958 to 1968, food went up 16% while clothing was up 20%, housing 27%, medical 45%. Since 1950, farm output per man has increased 6% compared to 2.5% for all other industries. Americans spend only about 16.5% of income on food; the lowest in history and about half that of any other country in the world! Behind it all is the remarkable efficiency of the American Farmer, who uses the modern farming methods encouraged and practiced by the members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

So, next time you check your food bill, please just count the food items. Then count your blessings. Something to think about during "Michigan Week."

Essay Contest Winners

Three Tecumseh junior high students earned first, second and third place school awards for their entries in the third Annual Freedoms Foundation Eighth Grade Essay Contest sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The three top essayists will receive antique parchment reproductions of historical documents, presented by representatives of the sponsoring firm. The Declaration of Independence reproduction for first place was awarded to Peg Aebersold, Centennial Rd., Britton. The second place award, a replica of the Constitution, was presented to Kathy Simon, Conklin Dr. A copy of the original Indian Treaty giving Mackinac Island to the British was the third place award received by Cathleen Jacobs, Tonneberger Dr.

Over 200 schools and 3,000 students participated in this year's contest which was conducted through 52 Farm Bureau Insurance Group offices around the state. Last year, 68 schools and 900 students competed.

In three years the Essay Contest has expanded from a Lansing area competition, to a massive statewide program. The basis for this appeal is the concept of the competition . . . encouraging youth to seriously consider the heritage and future of America through the topic "What I Can Do For My Country."

For the 1969 Essay Contest, Freedoms Foundation conferred the George Washington Honor Medal Award on Farm Bureau Insurance Group in February. This was the second such award in as many years.

The school awards represent an important first plateau in the statewide contest. Student essays earning a first place school award are placed in statewide competition for the top award . . . a fully expense-paid, four-day, three-night trip to Washington, D. C., with accommodations at the Statler Hilton Hotel for students, parents and teacher.

The school awards were presented to Peg, Kathy and Cathleen by Hal Van Wagner and Robert Auten, Farm Bureau Insurance Group representatives for the Clair Farquhar Agency.

Display flags and desk flag sets will be awarded to the top three state essayists and their schools as judged by a notable panel of judges: State Supreme Court Justice John R. Dethmers; Marvin L. Esch, Congressional Representative for Michigan's Second District; Guy Vander Jagt, Michigan's Ninth District Congressman; and Charles E. Chamberlain, Congressman for Michigan's Sixth District.

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge is a non-profit, nonpolitical, non-sectarian, educational organization created to achieve a better understanding of the basic principles underlying the Republic and to encourage Americans to be more articulate about Freedoms in today's America.

Selling Poppies This Weekend

Volunteer workers of Underwood-Orr Unit No. 34 of the American Legion Auxiliary will be down town this weekend, May 22-25, with plenty of poppies for convenience, according to Mrs. Wallace MacGeorge, chairman of Poppy Days. "Proudly wear a poppy as a memorial to the war dead and by so doing you are aiding the living disabled veterans and their families where there is need," the chairman said.

The poppy, a wild flower of France and Belgium particularly and seen growing by thousands of American tourists, was adopted by the American Legion as its memorial flower in 1920 and by the Auxiliary in 1921. The Auxiliary uses the proceeds for rehabilitation and Child Welfare work.

Several members saw students in action in the workshop of the Industrial Arts and Science departments of the Tecumseh High School last Thursday evening.

Their safety goggles and helmets are stored in new electrically operated metal wall cabinets where they are sanitized and become germ free.

The Auxiliary provided $160 toward the cost of this equipment as a part of its Child Welfare program under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Koffren.

Youths To Work At Appalachia

Youth from United Methodist Church will be among 250 youth and counselors who will volunteer their services in Appalachia this summer under the leadership of the General Board of Evangelism.

Work camps will be conducted for 11 weeks. The 15 Tecumseh youths are scheduled for June 28 - July 5.

The Appalachia project will be directed by the Rev. Glenn "Tex" Evans and will headquarter at Union College in Barbourville, Ky., at the invitation of Dr. Mahlon Miller, president of the college.

Work camp groups will help Appalachian families improve their homes and assist in improving community facilities. Mr. Evans, described the purposes of the project as proclaiming the good news to the poor, release the captives, recovering the sight of the blind and setting at liberty the oppressed and proclaiming the saving presence of the Lord.

He noted that many in Appalachia are shackled by their economic and physical circumstances and can only break the cycle of their bondage with the help of Christians who express their love and concern.

For further information contact Rev. Donald C. Porteous.

Scouts Earn Gypsy Badges

By Mrs. Richard Egli

When was the last time you went for an all day hike, tramped through the woods, made your own paths, followed a brook, discovered the beauty of shy spring flowers blooming in a shaded glen, lunched beside a pond, caught a frog, built your own campfire, cooked your dinner and ended the day, tired but happy, wending home along a country road?

Junior Girl Scout Troop 123 of Tecumseh did just this recently when they took their second all-day hike to fulfill the requirements for the Gypsy Badge.

The girls who went on the hike were Vickie Morley, Renee Lapham, Myra Dermyer, Sue Gould, Sue Frazier, Debbie Retan, Suzanne Norris, Marsha Gadek, Kim Hill, Donna Miracle, Valerie Egli, Laurie Albert, Kim Jedele, Jackie Cooper, Cindy Egli and Karen Egli.

The hike started at the home of Mrs. Richard Egli. Nineteen girls under the supervision of Mrs. Egli and Mrs. Raymond Gould gathered there at 10 a.m. laden with mess kits, dunking bags, canteens, sack lunches, boots, which were really needed, and sweaters which were never needed, ready for an adventure.

Mrs. Ronald Hill offered to take all the heavy items to the campsite by car so the girls didn't have to carry grills, pots, pans and other heavy gear.

Having received permission from land owners involved, the troop followed Evans Creek, discovered Old Man Coyote's Ravine, so named by the local youth, skirted a farmer's field, tramped through thick underbrush and were occasionally rewarded with the cooling glimpse of the brook as it meandered beside them.

After what seemed like hours, really only an hour and fifteen minutes, the Girl Scouts reached the spot planned for the lunch break. An hour was allowed for lunch and rest and then it was off again, this time the destination was Osburn's Woods where they planned to camp for a few hours, practice the skills of building a fire, cooking over it, and knot-tying.

Along the trail the girls were greeted many times by the sight of dainty lavendar phlox, pink and white trilliums, entire areas covered by spring beauties, and with the help of Mrs. Beland, discover one of the almost extinct Jack-in-the-Pupits. It proved to be the best time of the year for a hike in the woods.

At campsite, the girls formed patrols. Each patrol made their own fire ring, gathered their own wood and cooked their own meal. The menu included noodle soup, hotdogs, carrots and celery sticks, Kool-Aid and chocolate or vanilla pudding, all made at the camp by the girls themselves.

At clean-up time, the girls learned how to wash their dishes correctly, how to build a grease pit, how to put out a fire properly and how to restore the camp site to its natural condition. On the hike home each patrol gathered as much litter as possible from the roadside, including old hubcaps, beer cans, bottles and scrap paper. A total of five bags of trash were picked up and the girls learned that even a "litter bit hurts."

The day ended at 6 p.m. as the girls wearily trudged home carrying their extra load of litter. It had been a long day, a wonderful day full of discovery . . . nature's beauty, man's ugliness and a greater confidence in their scouting abilities. It was a great Girl Scout Day!

Through My Window

AN OUTLINE FOR INSANITY

Beware of mid-May mornings! It is then that severe cases of bird watcher's insanity are most apt to occur. There are no specific dates but Mother Nature's wearing of the green has usually reached the stage of maple leaves being slightly under half grown and the mulberry bush-tree will be misty with tiny yellow-green "preemy" leaves.

Yes, I am speaking from personal experience and of a very recent vintage, too. I somehow always manage to compound the trouble by being faced with a rapidly - approaching deadline. And who can dictate, even half-way intelligently, when there are birds to see and books to check and songs to hear?

There are few precautions which can be taken. Polish and clean binoculars; set up a table to hold an array of bird books, place markers and note pads; move favorite reference books from shelf to table; and make sure that there is easy access for running feet and, in my case, a flying bed to all windows. Quite frankly, though, nothing helps too much.

There is not time nor space for all the details but here is a brief outline of Tuesday morning, May 12. First of all, and as soon as my bed was twisted around early that morning, I spotted a little bird in the mulberry bush-tree which grows on the creek bank just outside the porch. He was a dark, shiny black with bright reddish orange markings on his tail and wings. A redstart.

Just to make sure, Gertie and I checked the bird books. Well, the AUDUBON BIRD GUIDE did not show his wing and tail markings to be anywhere near as bright as they really are and PETERSON'S FIELD GUIDE showed much too much white on the tummy. Nevertheless we were sure who our bird was.

A LITTLE LATER in the morning we saw three or four redstarts. We also saw goldfinches — goldfinches in such numbers that they were almost unbelieveable. They were flitting everywhere. It must have been the day for bathing because not only did we see them going to and coming from the creek but it seemed as though every fourth branch held a small bird preening and smoothing out wet feathers.

The brilliant yellow and black male goldfinches were easy to spot. Their more subdued colored ladies were a different matter. Especially when wet; and especially when there were leaves big enough to hide behind; and especially there were yellow warblers in the bathing group, too. It is the height in confusion when yellow warblers resemble female goldfinches and vice-versa.

A pine siskin hopped to a bare spot on a limb and stayed still long enough for a sure identification. All of our old regulars were around of course, but they were playing no games with us and it was easy to know who was there. If once in a while Mama Cardinal and Lady Baltimore Oriole had us wondering, it was only because they were traveling up or down the creek and the leaves blocked our view. Leaves do complicate bird watching.

Action suddenly switched back to the mulberry bush-tree. A small darkish bird with a bright yellow spot at the base of his tail, black and white wings, and a white throat. A myrtle warbler. Again, by taking a composite of the pictures in both Audubon and Peterson's, we came up with the answer: BIRDS OF AMERICA, however, offered the perfect word description of the behavior pattern.

ALL THE TIME, the bird noises were continuous. While it was possible to sort out a few individual songs, what we were most conscious of was just the continual high pitch, squeaky, chirping, twittering, lispy, buzzy chatterings. We knew the surest way to push us "over the brink" would be to put some bird call records on the stereo and try to match outside sounds with inside ones.

Thus our morning progressed. What changed it from ordinary confusion to extraordinary was the big bird who lit on a horizontal limb across the creek. He was large but not huge, had medium long legs, a long slender neck, and a long pointed bill. No amount of bird book checking helped. I saw him then he was gone; in about half an hour he was back again but his stay was brief. A bittern, a green heron, a little blue heron — I don't know. Neither look was good enough to let me match him with anything in any of our books.

In the midst of this speculating, Gertie T. tore to the window. Three birds. Dark gray, sleek, long tails slightly spread. Cat birds. And that background noise could be nothing except the rumble of thunder.

So it is that when noon finally come, it brought a much-needed rain which probably was our salvation — had the afternoon continued along in the same vein as the morning, this article would have been more than a mere outline for insanity.

NEXT WEEK:
". . . Is Some Action."

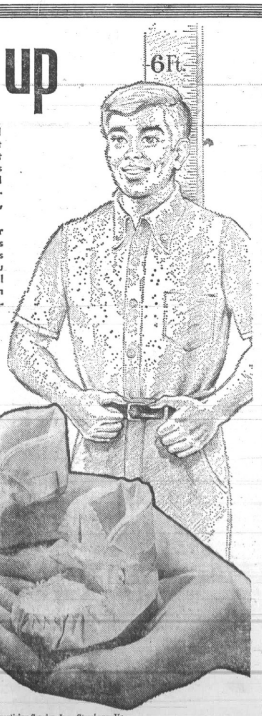
Growing up



Look at your lanky, teen-age son! It's hard to believe that he once wore these shoes. It seems only yesterday that he was a baby, yet he himself is the best testimonial that the years have passed. Now he stands almost as tall as you. He is a fascinating maze of contradictions—an eager, lovable youngster one minute, a scowling, angry adolescent the next.

It takes patience to understand a teen-ager—patience, and a lot of love. Though he strives to be adult, he is still a boy. Though he clings to childhood, he is almost "grown-up." You may not always be aware of it, but he still looks to you for many things. And he sees in you an example that he will, almost unconsciously, follow in many ways.

Are you setting a good example? How about church, for instance? If you haven't been going lately, start again next Sunday, for your son's sake, as well as your own. And don't forget to take him with you!

Parade, Service for War Dead

Tecumseh's annual tribute to the war dead will be held this Saturday morning with its Memorial Day parade from city hall to Brookside Cemetery, where a service in remembrance will be given.

Donald A. Woods is again marshal of the day and is being assisted this year by Donald Miley. They have organized the cemetery service and parade through the downtown section.

The day's tribute will begin at 9:30 when parade units will form on N. Maumee St., north from city hall.

At 9:45, a salute to the Veterans Monument at city hall will be conducted under the direction of Clarence Natterstad and Joseph Conklin, commanders of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A wreath will be placed at the monument by the auxiliaries of the two service organizations. Members of the Legion will form the firing squad.

The parade, with over 440 different units, is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock. This year, authorities have disallowed motor bikes and go-carts to participate in the parade.

The Rev. Laszlo Gero of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church will be the principal speaker at the cemetery tribute, and will be introduced by Mayor William Holmes.

The program will include the invocation and benediction by the Rev. Frank Hawthorne; music, high school band, under the direction of Don Johnson; placement of wreaths in memory of the dead, Monument, Civil War; Evans Creek, Navy; World War I and WW II, Vietnam and Korea; and at the Shaft, Spanish-American War.

Salute to the dead will be made by the VFW firing squad, and taps will be played by Wendy Vollmer and Pat Mannino.

Communications for the service are being provided by Abner's Service.

Mr. Woods is appreciative to those who have given of their time and equipment in making Tecumseh's tribute and parade a success.

Commission Rejects Creek Clean Up

Approximately 70 persons attended a public hearing Friday morning at the Evans Creek bridge on North Union Street to voice their opinions on a petition filed with the Drain Commissioner to clean up Evans Creek.

A Board of Determination was appointed by Drain Commissioner Donald E. Mitchell to hear the opinions, inspect the river and decide to accept or reject the petition.

The Board, composed of Chairman Harry Dusseau, supervisor of Palmyra Township; Lewis Ruesink, Adrian Township supervisor and Ralph Comfort of Raisin Township voted to deny the petition.

According to Mitchell, another petition cannot be filed for at least one year.

The Board decided that extending the county drain jurisdiction further downstream into the city was not necessary. They felt that the debris could best be removed by a "well-directed cooperative effort locally."

The Board said, "The open land section near Occidental Highway was recognized as a siltation and brush clogging problem that is growing worse. However, that condition also appears to exist farther upstream thans this petition provided. These conditions can be corrected by means of a new petition after one year."

Opinions voiced ranged from total approval to having it be an individual project. One Tecumseh man said he approved of the project only if the purpose was to clean the river and nothing was done to change its course, depth or natural beauty.

A Tipton man was opposed to having only part of the creek cleaned, saying that all of it should be. A woman from Tipton agreed, asking why they should have to help pay when their section of the creek would not be cleaned.

Farmers in Franklin Township, who might have paid between 20 to 30% of the cost, presented a petition signed by 75 landowners opposing the petition to clean the creek.

New Office for Doctor

Extensive remodeling of the old Rocket Tavern is underway for new optometry offices for Dr. Robert Bowers, Tecumseh optometrist.

Construction work will not only provide new and larger office space, but will also include a new front for the doctor's present office and his new office, making the two adjacent buildings to appear as one.

The front will consist of stone and siding, topped by a mansard roof of stained, cedar shake shingles. Colonial doors are being used for both offices and a door to upstairs apartments.

The new apartments have been built on the second floor.

A large rear section of the old tavern has been removed for an outside rear exit for the apartments and for parking.

Completion of the work is expected in June or early July.

Injuries Only In Train Wreck

BRITTON — Fred J. Cubberly, 23, 11071 Kniffen Rd., escaped with his life and relatively minor injuries when his automobile was struck by the locomotive of the Norfolk & Western R.R. at 2:15 p.m. Saturday.

Mishap took place on the crossing at Kniffen Rd.

Cubberly told Clinton State Police he did not see or hear train and pulled in front of the train engine. He was westbound.

Engineer Donald L. Miller, of Montpelier, Ohio, told officers he sounded horn and bell and had engine lights on. He stated he had just started up the train from Britton, ¾ mile away, and was traveling 40 mph with 21 freight cars.

Cubberly was admitted to Herrick Memorial Hospital with cuts to the face and arms and possible broken ribs.

Millage OK Is Necessary for Schools

Annual school election is less than two weeks away and school officials are concerned that voters fail to realize the importance of renewing the 14 mills for operation.

Voters in many districts are rejecting millage for their schools, but in most cases the defeats involve added millage. Tecumseh officials are merely asking the electorate to renew—not increase—operating millage for the local schools.

Without the 14 mills, Tecumseh could not operate its schools. And, a defeat or rejection of the millage on June 8, also would prevent the schools from opening in the fall. Authorities here have been told they could not hold another election until after Sept. 1, which would be too late for the millage to be placed on the tax rolls.

Following is a statement from the School Board:

The Board of Education has kept the voted millage necessary to operate the Tecumseh Schools for 1970-71 to the same as that voted for this year. They have decided to request only a renewal of the 14 mills though cost of living indexes are still rising, all school personnel have built in increments in salary, and books, supplies, and maintenance costs are all increasing.

The Board expects to be able to run the schools with approximately the same high quality curriculums, staff, and teaching materials as in the past. However, there will be few improvements in the curriculum that cost money. There will be changes that can be made at no added cost to the taxpayers.

The Board has chosen to try to operate on the same 14 mills as last year because there is about a two millon dollar increase in assessed evaluation in the district, and even though state aid will be cut proportionately per child, there will be some balance left to help meet the increased cost of running the school.

Also, the legislature may yet increase the total school aid bill some and the Tecumseh Schools will receive their share. The Board hopes that by next year the legislature will have increased the state aid to schools through income taxes and lower the amount necessary to levy through local property taxes.

If so, the Board may no longer be threatened each year of the necessity of cutting back programs or just not opening at all.

The 14-mill voted school tax is the minimum necessary to operate the schools. If the electorate does not vote to renew this millage on June 8, the schools will probably not open in September. This is not a threat, it is a fact.

The County Elections Board, which has been set up for that if the millage election fails, that they will refuse the the first time this year by the legislature, has told the Board Tecumseh Board permission to have another election until after September 1st, which is too late to get the tax, even if approved by the electorate, on the tax rolls for levy in December.

The Tecumseh schools would have no voted tax receipts to run the schools, and consequently the schools could not open.

The Board is well aware of the possibility of not opening school in the fall. This is the primary reason for not asking for other than renewal millage. It feels that it is better for the children to go to school regularly without improvements in the program than to be unable to attend school at all.

The Board has placed the opening of school in September in the hands of the electorate, who pay for the education of their children, with the trust that parents and others who believe in quality education for the children will renew the fourteen mills for one school year, 1970-1971.

Winners Announced

What do a heart transplant, a cobbler's last and an antique Chinese vase have in common?

All were the inspiration for flower arrangements judged the best of the Little Garden Club show last week.

Creativity Award went to Mrs. Charles Gross. The line of verse from Edgar A. Guest used for her entry was "And this becomes our common text: What will mankind discover next."

This creative arranger placed a large cylinder of plexiglass on a pedestal. Inside the cylinder went red geranium blossoms, with bare, many-branched twigs extending from the blooms at angles through the walls of the cylinder. This depiction of a heart transplant was one of the most striking modern arrangements in the show.

Mrs. Owen Merrill took a cobbler's last, a lantern and some dried weeds and turned them into a floor arrangement suitable for use on a patio. The line for this arrangement was "And what is dull and commonplace in radiant charm appears." These items were arranged so well that Mrs. Merrill received the Award of Distinction for her efforts.

The Tri-color Award, given to an arrangement using all fresh plant materials and scoring 95 points or more out of a possible 100 points, went to Mrs. David Woods. The fuji chrysanthemums, branches, antique Chinese vase and shantung look of the background for the arrangement all showed the Oriental flavor specified in the class entered.

The complete list of winners in the artistic division includes:

Schools, City Hall Taking Days Off

Most Tecumseh shops will be closed Saturday for Memorial Day.

Tecumseh schools will be closed Monday, and city hall will close on Friday.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Having so recently completed a most successful celebration of Michigan Week, we are still bursting at the seams with pride. Our state is something special and thank goodness we have a week in May to remind us of it. Tecumseh is one up on many cities in having things of which to be proud. We have a Civil War ship that shares our name. Last summer Betty Flanders talked about the U. S. S. Tecumseh on her "Tecumseh Spotlight program; this winter Clarence Damon told the story to both the Wit and Wisdom'ers and the Kiwanis Club; now The Herald's Bird Gal is getting into the act. "Our Ship, The U. S. S. Tecumseh" begins on page 8, Section B.

Betty Flanders' feather duster will never be the same but it did make lovely feathers for the robin given to Bud Guest at the Mayor's Day banquet Thursday evening. Diane Lake, summer assistant of Ward Eardley in Parks and Recreation, and Rosanne Gerten, who will also be employed by the city this summer, made the big bird (2 ft. high and 2 ft. wide).

Bet he didn't expect to be given "the bird" when he came to Tecumseh.

The clinic is sponsored by the Lenawee County Health Department and the Michigan Department of Public Health to help uncover eye and ear disorders before children are enrolled in school.

2 Anthems Sung by Youth Singers

It was a historical step in the life of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church last Sunday, when the newly organized choir of the Youth Singers worshipped the Lord. The teenage choir sang two anthems with Marianne Bush's guitar assistance.

The organ prelude was accompanied with Sharon MacGeorge's clarinet solo and the offertory music was presented at the organ by Carole Ann Christman.

Mrs. Earl Mason, director of the Chancel and the Junior choirs, organized and directed the Youth Singers and presented them to the congregation.

During the worship service Matthew Troy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Kendall, and Brett Thomas, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schaap, were baptized.

Senior Ponders Coming Graduation

A SENIOR'S THOUGHTS
By Harold Jeffers
(Senior of Britton High School)

I'm a senior now, but not for long,
My will is shaky, my goals are strong.
I realize now that the time is near,
To be out on my own, which most I fear.

For thirteen long years I just couldn't wait,
Thirteen long years just to graduate.
Ending thirteen long years is commencement's fate,
With its freedoms I'll love, it's burdens I'll hate.

For now is the time I must start acting my age.
And life seems like a play, with the world as a stage.
I myself am an actor and I must take my part,
Or run from this problem and from realization depart.

My thoughts are now creating in the walls of my head,
And the decision that faces me makes me wish I were dead.
For the question that now confronts me I can't take light,
I must decide now, "Should I fight or take flight?"

Should I stand a responsible and in life's play take my place,
Or should I push off the responsibilities I face?
So many thoughts now do race through my skull,
And I want to just give up and be free from them all.

As I think my mind wanders,
I think I shall run,
Throw off all problems, raise hell and have fun!
The "in" scene on drugs seems now a promising way,
Live wild and free, and from reality through life stay.

As I regain my senses I know I can't run,
And life is responsibility, not just freedom and fun.
Yes, these promises of no problems seem a beautiful dream,
But the life that exists around is not what it may seem.

I stop now and ponder on the years which are past,
As I grow again fearful that this is my last.
Now a familiar past saying again rings in my ear,
"Don't be a dropout," which I heard through the years.

Many times throughout high school I have griped and complained,
But the memories of the "cool times" in my mind have remained.
In the past graduation seemed a time of rebirth,
But it now seems a thing of "for what it's worth."

Oh, the price of this deciding problem seems mere, yet so much,
When must one decide his life happiness as such.
Now I must choose the right path, or ruined my life be.
And no one can help decide, it's all up to me.
A person must consider what life really is,
Before he can decide what "thing" will be his.
And must stick to the course and live it day by day.

Library To Begin Summer Reading

BRITTON — The Britton Library invites children of the area who are going into the third grade up to and including the eighth grade, to join the summer Zodak Reading Club which is now being organized.

Mrs. Pat Preston, Librarian, states that this is an unusual club where there is no dues, no regular meeting and no committees, only a club where children are encouraged to continue their reading abilities during the summer months away from school.

Mrs. Preston wishes to point out that this is not a contest, however, honor certificates will be awarded from the Lenawee County Library to members who read at least 10 books and write three or four sentences about each book. They will also have their names on the library's honor roll poster. The deadline for showing reports to the librarian is August 8.

Summer Story Hour for children is scheduled to start Wednesday, June 17. The exact hour will be announced later. Mrs. Preston wishes to emphasize that if the attendance at the first meeting proves to be poor, the program will then be discontinued.

Library hours are 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. On Saturday the hours are from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Library telephone number is 451-2860.

A TIME TO MOURN

In the wake of all the recent disturbances on college campuses, several points need to be examined.

One, the public, depending upon its viewpoint, has become highly critical of either the National Guard or the campus protestors following the shooting of four Kent State University students.

So let's set the stage prior to the confrontation. Each side is armed with their own type of violence. The National Guard has their tear gas, restore the peace philosophy, rifles, honored tradition of protecting the country, bayonets, distinguished citizens among the ranks, authority to arrest the "enemy" and in this instance, live ammunition.

And on the other side of the campus are the students armed with their stones, love philosophy, bottles, peace symbol, placards, desire for world peace and equality and what some consider the most frightening aspect, their overwhelming numbers.

Both sides then, were armed with their ideologies and weapons of destruction and death. Both sides were ready to do battle, ready to prove their force greater than the other's. It is doubtful, however, that the violence was planned to reach such a dramatic peak, except possibly in the minds of a radical few on both sides.

The confrontation produced what both sides had always needed. The students have their martyrs, their symbols to champion the cause.

The four students killed were not on campus to demonstrate, occupy buildings or burn files. They were there to learn, to exercise the main purpose of the univerity, to get an education.

Four innocent by-standers were shot because they were curious and came to look or because they happened to be passing by.

The June first issue of News-week magazine contains a story about the Kent State shootings. It tells of seven reporters, six from "the Detroit Free Press," who reconstructed the killings.

Their findings show that the four victims "did nothing to justify their deaths. They threw no rocks nor were they 'political'."

The killing of these four students will undoubtedly greatly increase the number joining the protest ranks because the typical student can readily identify with them. If the four killed had been radicals in the front of the demonstration, not so many others might not have mourned their deaths so earnestly and picked up the banner of dissent.

The Guard, through the confrontation, can now threaten the students with the possibility that they will fire upon them with live ammunition. No longer can students be certain that the Guard will be using blanks or just fire over their heads or at their feet.

One Guardsman revealed his feelings about the shootings in the reporters' findings. He said, "I just didn't think about it. I just closed my eyes and shot. I didn't aim at anyone in particular . . . It was like an automatic thing. Everybody shot, so I shot."

Guard Capt. William Reinhard, a Lutheran pastor from Cleveland, began quoting Ecclesiastes after the shootings. "A time to weep," he said. "A time to mourn. This is the time."

BEHIND the COUNTER with CARL LAMB

CHILD POISONING — ANY TIME

There's a stage all children go through when they begin exploring the world about them. Everything has to be climbed up on or lifted or opened, or smelled or touched or tasted. This is how children learn that stoves burn and that chairs are heavy, and it's natural for them to encounter an occasional mishap.

But it also results in a half-million American children being poisoned each year. Once a youngster gets into the medicine cabinet and starts sampling the little bottles of "candy," there's trouble. Those adult sleeping pills, laxatives and pain killers can be dangerous — especially when the child can't tell you how many he has taken of which pill.

Also, there is that supply of common household products which are poisonous, even though they're not labeled as such: bleaches, lighter fluid, furniture polish and cleaning compounds. The child's undeveloped taste buds may not keep him from swallowing things that would taste awful to an older child.

Almost every pharmacist can tell you about the calls he has received from distraught mothers who want to know what to do in such an emergency. He can probably give you the advice you need and can rush over any necessary supplies. However, some complicated poisonings demand hospital attention, and you should have that telephone number handy.

We'll also be glad to give you suggestions on how to prevent poisonings, and how to minimize the danger from such an accident.

60 Friends Attend Hawaiian Luau

Sixty juniors and seniors of Adrian and Tecumseh Friends quarterly meeting attended the Hawaiian luau in the church transformed by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson, Mrs. Dale Spohr, Shirley Harvey, Jackie Chase, Paula Brantingham and her father.

Colorful decorations with palms and a mural with volcano set the island scene where Mr. and Mrs. Leland Fogelsong were the greeters and the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Brantingham, hosts.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

A time to pause, reflect, be grateful for all that we are . . . all that we can be . . . all that we will be . . . if we rededicate ourselves . . . as true patriots must . . . to . . . God and the nation.

This bit taken from Michigan Township News with banner stating "Good Government for All," seems to sum up thoughts for Memorial Day, 1970.

Joining the forces of God and country along with a determination that the sacrifices of the past shall not have been in vain is a good cause for Americans to really work with this year. We have so much at stake.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Oliphant have just returned from a long weekend in their cabin at Gaylord.

Mr. and Mrs. Journey Stoner have returned from Miami Beach, Fla., where she was a delegate to the American Nurses' Association Conference.

Vi and Ellen Snedecor entertained their nieces for luncheon Tuesday, Mrs. Tom Edwards of Livonia and Mrs. John Fitzpatrick and two children of Dearborn Heights and Mrs. Glenn Snedecor.

Mrs. Floyd Bryan returned Tuesday evening from Durand where she spent the past week as houseguest of Mrs. Robert Kerr.

E. H. McConnell entered Flower Hospital in Toledo Wednesday for tests.

Mrs. G. A. Abner has returned to her own home after spending two months with her daughter. Mrs. George Meeds, after fracturing her left arm.

Mrs. Orville Bishop and Mary Kay were in Alma over the weekend to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bishop and Holly.

GM3 David George Radant, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Radant, arrived home from Vietnam May 16. He entered the United States Navy in Sept., 1966 and spent the past year with the river patrol boats and the duffle bag division in Vietnam. He stated that the language barrier makes life difficult there and he found conditions among the people similar to our colonial times with a great deal of disease rampant. With no desire to return, David is relaxing and trying to decide what type of work he would like to take up.

Telephoto Lenses

By Paul Cunningham

The earliest flash photography literally began with a bang. Those pioneers used a flash powder made mainly of magnesium which produced a brilliant — and smoky — and dangerous flash. More than one photo assistant came away from a shooting session with singed eyebrows! This soon gave way to the electric spark flash, invented in 1851, but not perfected until just recently.

It wasn't long before the common flash bulb came into wide use on the photo scene. All bulbs now are essentially the same, with magnesium foil or wire in an oxygen atmosphere. Press the shutter and an electrical charge ignites the mixture and produces a brilliant flash — once. Bulbs today come in all sizes, from the tiny AG-1 to the M-22.

All bulbs produce characteristic colors which tint the predominently white flash. For this reason, some bulbs should not be used with certain color films. The "blue" bulb is designed to be used with "daylight-type" color film. Any kind of bulb can be used with black and white film.

Exposure with flash bulbs is rather critical. Each film, of course, has a different "speed," or ability to record an image. The "slower" the film, like ASA 25, the larger the flash bulb must be or the exposure. The light output of each bulb has been compared with the speed of each film and this relationship has been expressed in a "guide number". The use of such a guide number takes the guesswork out of shooting. Tri-X film, for example, has a guide number of 500' when used with a number 11 bulb.

Here's how you use the guide number. Taking the above example of Tri-X: figure the distance from your flash to the subject, say 25 feet. Divide the guide number by this distance (500 divided by 25 = 20) and the result is the f-stop for your camera: f-20. If the f-stop is not a regular one, like f-8 or f-22, you may estimate the location of the f-stop indicator on the camera. Each film and flash package will carry guide numbers for all common combinations.

Guide numbers are just that — guides. The wise photographer will test his favorite film and bulb to determine his own number. This is a good reason for sticking to one particular combination: master the guide number and you'll get more good pictures.

When a bulb flashes, there's a slight delay before the flash reaches maximum brilliance. For this reason it's important to make two settings on the camera. When using a common, one-shot bulb, set your camera on "M". This delays the shutter opening long enough to allow the bulb to "peak". Also, when using this type of bulb, it's a good habit to use a rather slow shutter speed, like 1/30th second. A fast speed here would open and close the shutter before getting the appropriate light on the film.

This whole problem is eliminated when an electrical flash is used. The "strobes", as they are commonly called, require the camera to be set on "X". When the button is pressed, the shutter opens. At that instant, the electrical flash fires and the shutter will close. Whereas the flash bulb takes as long as 5/1000 second to flash completely, the strobe will peak in about 1/1000 second. This means you can use any shutter speed. A word of caution: consult your camera guide or dealer: some cameras require a setting different from either M or X, when using a flash. For an excellent source book of information in general and flash in particular, see Kodak's Data Books, especially "Flash Pictures", Kodak Number AC-2

Next week: more on flash photography, accessories and flash units

USS Tecumseh To Be Raised

By MARDA GENE DUNCAN

Early on the morning of August 5, 1864, the ironclad U.S.S. Tecumseh fired the shell which, as it exploded over Fort Morgan, signaled the beginning of the Battle of Mobile Bay.

The battle itself, planned and executed by Admiral Farragut, is most interesting but, as residents of "Indian Town", we shall mainly concern ourselves here with the first casualty of the fight, the Tecumseh. The plan was for the four monitors, Tecumseh, Manhattan, Winnebago and Chickasaw, to lead the way; a line of ships was to proceed into the bay and engage the enemy.

Their prime target was the new ship the Confederates had built, the Tennessee. It was a formidable ship, an iron-protected ram, designed to be used against the wooden ships of the Union Navy. Fortunately the ships and men, for which Admiral Farragut had long pleaded, finally arrived and he was able to launch an attack before the Confederates could go on the initiative.

The Tecumseh and the Manhattan carried the largest guns, each had two 15-inchers. The entrance to Mobile Bay is a narrow channel, protected on the east by the well-armed Fort Morgan and on the west by a torpedo field.

The Civil War torpedo, by the way, was not a sleek and deadly missile shot from a submarine but more closely resembled a World War II mine. It was stationary and the explosives were activated by percussion caps — theoretically, a ship sailing through the torpedo field would brush against the detonators and bang!

When the U. S. S. Tecumseh reached the narrow channel, she "suddenly careened to one side and almost instantly sank". One account gives the time as only 23 to 25 seconds. Of the 114 officers and enlisted men aboard, only 21 survived. The pilot, John Collins, and 9 men manning the guns in the turret jumped overboard and were rescued; 7 men managed to escape in a lifeboat; and 4 swam to shore where they were immediately captured.

Two acts of heroism during the sinking are woven into naval tradition and legend. Captain Tunis A. M. Craven went down with the ship. The story goes that when the captain and the ship's pilot met at the bottom of an escape ladder, the junior officer was ordered to go ahead. "There was nothing after me," relates Mr. Collins, "when I reached the uppermost rung of the ladder."

This same man was in the group that figured in the second show of bravery. They were rescued by a life boat crew from the Metacomet who rowed through direct lines of fire and thus put themselves in grave danger. The Civil War was a young man's war; the Acting Ensign Henry C. Nields, who was in command of this life boat, was an 18- or 19-year-old teenager.

And, speaking of navy lore, The Battle of Mobile Bay was the scene of Admiral Farragut's famous command: "Damn the torpedoes!" (Contrary to popular usage, there was no "full speed ahead".) When the Tecumseh sank, the warship Brooklyn came to a sudden and unexplained halt. The captain refused to obey orders to continue on his assigned course and thus a monumental "pile up" of the ships following him was in the works.

The whole fleet was a sitting duck — they were well within the range of the murderous guns of Fort Morgan. Absolute disaster was eminent. From his flagship, the Hartford, Admiral Farragut assessed the situation and ordered his ship out of line. Deciding to take the lead himself, he passed the Brooklyn on the left thus swinging across the torpedo field. When this was called to his attention, he supposedly snapped, "Damn the torpedoes!"

As it turned out, the run through the torpedo field was safe and without incident. Although it is reported that the men on board could hear the click of the ship hitting the percussion caps, none of the torpedoes exploded. (No one has explained how, in the din of battle, such small sounds could have been heard.) Apparently the southern torpedoes had been in the water so long that corrosion had left the firing pin useless.

But getting back to the Tecumseh, some serious students of the Civil War still question her sinking. If indeed she did encounter a torpedo, why was she off course? Also, why did this torpedo detonate and the ones Admiral Farragut hit did not? The accepted theory of the sinking does not answer these questions, it merely "goes on blind faith" that she did run afoul a torpedo.

The Southern press, however, claimed that cannon fire from the fort sank the ship. There are those who ascribe to this, theorizing that, 1, the ship was of course and, 2, she capsized towards the fort indicating the death blow came from that direction. Well, perhaps we shall know the truth one of these days.

Never has a United States Navy ship, sunk by enemy fire, been refloated. Never, that is, until now. There is great excitement and activity in Mobile, Ala., these days as plans and work go ahead to raise the U. S. S. Tecumseh. Although the general location of her sinking was always known, the ship itself has now been located. Divers have actually been down and seen her.

Some time ago, when Civil War buffs became numerous and interest in the War between the States was reaching an almost feverish pitch, people started remembering the Tecumseh. The first refloating plan was the brain child of an individual, or perhaps even a group of people, who hoped to make it the center of attraction in a Civil War type Frontier Village.

The state of Alabama objected, the ship was in their waters and was, therefore, their property. Then the Federal Government stepped in, the U. S. S. Tecumseh was a United States Navy ship. It was government property and so the government would "take over". There was just one small, slight hitch, the expense. This was going to be an extremely expensive project.

And a complicated one, too. One simply does not go out and haul up a ship of this size. After all, she is some 225 feet in length and 43 feet and 8 inches in width; her deck is protected by two thicknesses of 3-inch iron plates, her sides by five layers of 1-inch plates, and her turret by 10 layers of 1-inch plates. Great care must be taken so that as the ship is raised she is not destroyed. Anything so long under water could conceivably present great problems when drying out.

Once the Tecumseh is above water, present plans call for her to be on display in Mobile for one year. Then she will find a permanent home in Washington, D. C., in the National Armed Forces Historical Museum Park. This park was created during President Eisenhower's administration and, even when out of office, was one of his pet projects.

Last fall there was an announcement about a TV program which was to show the progress already made in the re-floating of "our" ship. Unfortunately, there were unexplained changes in the schedule and we can only hope that sometime soon the program will be aired. As they say, keep checking the TV listings.

Even though the ship was not specifically named after our town, we do share a common name and wouldn't it be nice if we could also share a little of the pride in restoration. The Tecumseh Products is involved in the project but could not some of our clubs, civic groups, and school history classes help, too?

How proud to know that the saga of the U. S. S. Tecumseh did not end on August 5, 1864. Once the rescuing of the old ironclad is complete, the country and we, the people, will be that much richer by having one more monument of the Civil War.

Through My Window

IS SOME ACTION!

I just never thought it would happen. And no one who ever knew me would think it possible. Never, never, ever. Not in the wildest day dreams nor the worst nightmares. I rant and rave against grackles, certainly I would not be trying to take a picture of one. Yet, that is exactly the shocking position I am in. Day after day the camera is set and my trigger wrist is ready. I am tensed and poised. I am already to shoot. So far though the grackle has remained camera shy, and will not visit the feeder.

Of course, it is just one particular grackle I am interested in photographing and she is far from the ordinary run-of-the-mill black thieves. She is something special. Something odd. Were she a Great Dane we would call her a harlequin but what, for goodness sakes, does one call a black and white grackle? Yes, that is what I am waiting to take a picture of — a black and white grackle.

She is really quite silly looking. There is, however, absolutely no mistaking what she is. She is about 11 inches long; she has the grackle shape and long tail; she wheezes and croaks in the most unmusical manner; she stands around with her head tilted back looking to see if the sky is falling; and she has the grackle yellow eye.

Oh, just to think of how evil and cruel they look makes me shudder. From a distance and in a certain light, this gal looks almost moldy. Up close though or in bright sunshine, it is easy to see the whitish cast on the top of her head, definitely white feathers in her tail and wings, the mottled white on her back and front.

SEVERAL TIMES she has given us extreme close-up looks — always, out of camera range, of course — and really, she is most unusual. She has the heavy legs and big feet of her species but instead of being jet black, they are a washed-out and faded gray.

Her bill, too, shows a lack of black pigments; it is as big and ugly as it should be but, near the base, the color is a dirty white which quickly darkens until, near the sharp, pointed end, the bill is almost a normal black. Do you see why I think I should have a picture of this weird character?

She stays clear of the near-my-window feeder with a maddening dedication. I am beginning to take it as a personal insult. All of her friends and cohorts monopolize the tray, they have virtually taken it over. Not old black and white though — she avoids it like the plague. There is no question of discrimination either. The other black thieves would not refuse her. At least on the ground, in the trees, and even soaking in the creek, they treat her exactly as they would any other female. She is completely accepted and goes about her business just as though she were any other member of the mob.

The longer she stays away from the feeder the surer I am that it is a personal thing. It is strictly a battle between her and me. And as of this writing, I am losing.

So it is that shocking as it may sound, these days I am wasting my time trying to take a picture of a grackle — to paraphrase the old cliche, I have the lights, I have the camera, now all I need is some action!

NEXT WEEK: "Oh-possums."

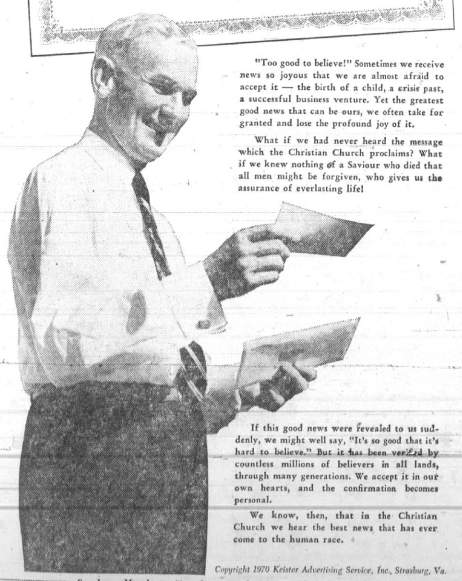
GOOD NEWS



"Too good to believe!" Sometimes we receive news so joyous that we are almost afraid to accept it — the birth of a child, a crisis past, a successful business venture. Yet the greatest good news that can be ours, we often take for granted and lose the profound joy of it.

What if we had never heard the message which the Christian Church proclaims? What if we knew nothing of a Saviour who died that all men might be forgiven, who gives us the assurance of everlasting life!

If this good news were revealed to us suddenly, we might well say, "It's so good that it's hard to believe." But it has been verified by countless millions of believers in all lands, through many generations. We accept it in our own hearts, and the confirmation becomes personal.

We know, then, that in the Christian Church we hear the best news that has ever come to the human race.

Patricia's mother, Mrs. Raymond Galecki of Detroit was a guest. Also present were Patricia's classmates at Siena Heights College, where she graduated May 17.

Board Proposes Millage Renewal

CLINTON — Board of Education for Clinton Community Schools met in a lengthy session Tuesday which extended until after 1 a.m. the next morning. Besides the matter of voting to place a proposal for renewal of four-mills operational millage on the June 8 ballot, several other matters were acted upon.

Herbert Ayres and Mary Jo Truesdale represented the senior Spanish Club in explaining the proposed trip to Mexico City, Mexico, to be taken by nine seniors June 30 accompanied by chaperones. Cost of the trip is $230 each, which students have raised themselves. Board approved the trip as "worthwhile cultural enrichment for our senior Spanish students."

Several grievances came before the board and were satisfactorily resolved. Included was the matter of the production of the senior play and its director Mrs. Margaret Geiger. Appearing before the board was Mrs. Geiger, John Jansen and Wesley Maki, CEA representatives, and several cast members.

After lengthy discussion, the board decided to stand by its previous decision of April 21. Mr. Geiger removed himself from the discussion and did not vote on the matter.

Another grievance concerned the matter of driver education instructors which the board felt was a violation of the Master Contract. Board moved to publish the three openings in a faculty bulletin, May 25, and gave the authority to hire three driver education instructors.

Another grievance, which was tabled for further consultation with attorneys in Lansing, concerned the position of Daniel Schindler, who is the Director of Guidance, and part-time assistant to the principal. CEA felt that the Master Contract was violated, since this position was not advertised.

Following an executive session, the board accepted the withdrawal of the grievance concerning James Poppink, when a mutual understanding had been reached with Superintendent Richard Wegner.

James Pittman and Ronald Lunch, athletic director, gave some facts and figures pertaining to the purchase of a Universal Weight Lifting Machine. Athletic department would be totally responsible for the project and funds would be raised to meet the cost of $2,575.92. Various clubs, such as Varsity Club, Mr. and Mrs. Government and Faculty Team Account will meet this deficit. Presently $850 is available. Board voted to approve the project as soon as 2/3 of the cost has been raised.

Board adopted the following resolution pertaining to athletic insurance, "Effective at the beginning of athletic practices in the fall of 1970, and continuing indefinitely thereafter, all students who participate in after school competitive athletics shall be required to carry medical and hospitalization insurance. Proof of insurance coverage must be submitted to the Athletic Director's Office before eligibility is established and participation allowed. The family hospitalization insurance is adequate to meet this requirement. However, if a student wishes, he may enroll in the Michigan High School Association Insurance Benefit Program."

It was voted to update the clock system at the Elementary School.

Harlon Ruhl was appointed to meet with the Village Council in an effort to work out the problem of providing a crossing guard to work along with the safety patrol boys.

Dan Schindler explained that Clinton drop-out rate is 3.55%, compared to the county rate of 4.97%, and the Michigan average of 6.73%, according to recent published statistics, for the year 1967-68, when Clinton had 11 drop-outs. For the current year, 1969-70, Clinton has ten students who have dropped out of school.

Voted to serve on the June 8 election inspectors are: Lucille Blumhardt, Cora Blaisdell, Edna Driscoll, Laura Randall, Helen Shelley and Frank Fitzpatrick.

It was voted to re-employ Mrs. Leora Kane for the 1970-71 school year, waiving the retirement at 65 policy in her case.

Because there were several matters concerning the building project still to come before the board, a special meeting was scheduled for May 26.

League Title Lost On Rule Infraction

CLINTON — Although Clinton's track team racked up a winning total of 67 points to runnerup Morenci's 57½ in LCAA league meet at Adrian High School Thursday, a rule infraction was discovered which kept the Redskins from taking the league title.

In the competition with seven schools, Clinton took an early lead in field events and a first place finish in the first running event, the 380 relay, a one-two finish in the low hurdles and a commanding lead over the rest of the field.

Then, one of the league coaches discovered the infraction. Mike Gunn of Clinton had been entered in both relays, which meant he could not run in any other running event. The sophomore also entered the 100 yard dash and consequently he was disqualified and Clinton lost all the points which Gunn had helped to win, a total of 16 points lost.

Morenci, the only team which stayed within striking distance of Clinton, picked up a couple of the points, ending up with 59½ and the league title, to Clinton's 51, as runnerup.

Only league record set was in the pole vault by Carl Anderson of Clinton. His second try took him over the bar at a height of 13'1¾".

Erick Sparks was the only double winner. The senior captured the long jump with a leap of 20'4" and came back to win the 100 yard dash with a 10.2 time.

People who hurry through this life meet death that much earlier.

Eight Running for Board Posts

CLINTON — Voters in Clinton Community School District will be asked to renew a four-mill tax for operational funds at the June 8 election. Proposal is for a period of three years. All eligible voters in the school district may vote on the proposal. It is not necessary to be a property owner.

The annual school election will be held in the Clinton Township Library from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Two positions for four-years terms on the school board are to be filled at the same election.

Candidates are Donald Geiger and Lester Proctor, incumbents, and Harold Brown, Robert J. Way, William Stout, Jr., Robert Werner, George Wolf and Glenn Clark.

Candidates have prepared statements about their qualifications and reasons for seeking the school board positions as follows:

HAROLD O. BROWN

I live on Matthews Hwy. in Clinton and formerly lived at 314 E. Michigan Ave. My wife and I have lived in the Clinton area for 24 years.

My wife Mildred and I have four children. Two are married, Sandy and Gene. I have a boy Johnny and a girl Roxanne in school now.

I work at R & B Tool Co. at Saline as an electrical supervisor. I formerly worked at Clinton Machine Co., and the Tecumseh Products Co., and I am a Protestant and my hobbies are golf, fishing, hunting, in fact most sports. I also do a little farming.

"The reason that I am running for the school board is that I used to be active in community affairs for several years. Now I am interested in seeing the children have a just education and Mr. and Mrs. Citizen have a fair shake.

I have been attending several of the school board meetings and I find that a few people on the board should be replaced."

GLENN CLARK

Glenn Clark lives at 12140 E. Michigan Ave., with his wife, Martha, and four children, Joy, Berry, Carol and Blake, all attending Clinton Community Schools.

He is 35 years old and owns and operates Meadowlane Golf Course. The Clarks have lived in the Clinton rural area for the past six years.

Glenn received his BA from Cleary College, majoring in business management and accounting.

He is an active member of the Clinton Rotary Club and also a member of the Saline Baptist Church.

"I am a candidate for the school board because I feel that everyone who is capable should become involved in the civic workings of their community and I also feel that there is a need for more rural representation on the board.

"I believe that basically the school system is quite sound and that the new building program will enhance the curriculum, plus increase the morale of all concerned. I note an apparent lack of unity on the present board which I hope will be dissolved after the current election because a sound operating body must have unity to work effectively.

"I thank the Tecumseh Herald for the opportunity to express myself and ask that all qualified voters make their choice known on June 8th."

DONALD GEIGER

Donald Geiger, an incumbent, resides on US-12, west of Clinton. He is married and has a son and daughter who attend Clinton Schools. He is a graduate of Clinton High School and University of Michigan. He is presently an assistant professor in the Adrian Public Schools.

"I'm interested in having quality education here. Quality education requires competent and dedicated teachers, adequate facilities and sound administrative guidance. The citizens of Clinton have demonstrated a willingness to provide facilities. However, the facilities will be only as good as staff and administration provide.

"I believe that public funds should be spent with even greater care than one would exercise with his own personal assets. I also believe that discipline is vital within the school. Children must have reasonable rules and regulations and care must be exercised in seeing that these are enforced fairly and consistently. I believe that members of a board of education have not only the right but the responsibility to question areas of concern, demand efficiency in performance and operation, expect quality and insist that the schools be run in an orderly and professional manner.

"Your vote on June 8 will be appreciated."

LESTER PROCTOR

Lester Proctor, an incumbent, lives at 302 Jackson Rd., and is owner of Proctor Funeral Home. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

"Many years I have given to civic services to our communities and consistently supported you the public. On June 8th there will be elected two Clinton school board members.

"Please vote and vote for the ones you know to be honorable."

WILLIAM STOUT

I have been a resident of Clinton most of my life. During World War II, I served five years in the U.S. Coast Guard.

We have three children, two daughters have already graduated from Clinton High School, Cheryl is a senior at Eastern Michigan University, Marvel will graduate June 20th from Patricia Stevens Modeling School and our son, Billy, is presently in the sixth grade at Clinton Elementary School.

I have worked at Tecumseh Products for 23 years.

I believe the present School Board is split since the issue regarding Superintendent Wegner. I feel the only way to correct this condition is to elect two new board members. It is good for the Board to have constructive arguments, but after the issue is settled they should unite again.

Therefore, I would like to see two new School Board members elected in an attempt to correct this situation. If elected, I would try to bring the Board back together, to give every child the best education possible and to work for the best interest of the school and the people who elected me.

ROBERT J. WAY

He is a lifelong resident of Clinton and a graduate of Clinton High School and Adrian College in 1960.

He resides at 207 W. Church St., with his wife, Mary Jane, and three children who are in elementary school.

"I would like to present myself to the electorate as an individual who will work diligently to serve the Clinton Community Schools in order to provide the very best educational opportunities possible. This interest is further enhanced by having three children enrolled in school."

ROBERT WERNER

He is a lifelong Michigan resident, presently at 102 Kathy Dr., with wife Ruth, sons Rick, a senior and Pat, a fifth grader. He is a sales representative for University Lithoprinters of Ypsilanti.

Prior to moving to Clinton two years ago, the Werners lived in Clinton Township, Macomb County, and he actively engaged in many community activities.

"The most important involvement was serving over nine years on the Clintondale Board of Education as a trustee, secretary and president. As an active participant on the local, county and state levels, my experience includes working closely with teachers, administrators, and citizen groups in areas of curriculum, salaries, building programs, consolidations, community and personnel relations. Was also co-author of the districts first written board policies.

"It is my sincere desire to offer my services and experience to Clinton Community Schools and will make my time available to individuals or groups who wish to discuss our present school problems. Phone 456-4383.

GEORGE R. WOLF

We have been residents of Clinton for nearly five years, residing at 605 Jackson St.

I joined the Silicone Division of Stauffer Chemical Company six years ago. My current responsibility is manager of the Analytical and Physical Testing Sections of the Stauffer-Wacker Silicone Corporation.

We have five children ranging in age from twelve to four. We are members of the Bethel Baptist Church at Britton.

I was born and raised in Philadelphia, Pa. I served with the 63rd Infantry Division in the ETO directly from high school. A BS degree was earned at Juniata College and a Ph.D. was conferred by the University of Pennsylvania. My major was chemistry.

"I am desirous of serving as a member of the Clinton Community Board of Education. My goal is to serve in harmony with the other board members. My desire is to work with the board members and administration so that we can continue to provide a well rounded education for our children. I hope to utilize my technical background and scientific training in all discussions and decisions.

"My voice during board meetings will be directed to, first establishing the facts and then carefully examining and weighing these facts. Functioning in such a manner will reduce dissension and establish a smooth functioning board and school administration."

News from the Tecumseh Library

New books ready and waiting for Tecumseh Library patrons to borrow:

ADULT

MR. JACK AND THE GREENSTALKS, by Gene Bogowitz. Seventh Avenue meets up with Broadway when the Garment Center starts to grow, thanks to the Greenstalks. It is a Cinderella story — of its volume and mass production, it is also the American dream.

FAIRLY HONOURABLE DEFEAT, is a typical Murdochian novel — a pink teddy bear at an adult birthday party, a battle royal in a swimming pool, a transvestite happening in a London flat. By Iris Murdoch.

MIKLOS ALEXANDROVITCH IS MISSING, by Anne Edwards. When the Russian ballet dancer, Miklos, jumps over the fence at Orly Airport to defect to the West, it is into a Paris seething with rioting students and perilous intrigue. He became trapped between two worlds, a pawn in a desperate game.

UNFINISHED CLUE, is another in the long list of Georgette Hyer books. It was no surprise that everyone wished Sir Arthur dead, but who actually stabbed him was a real mystery . . . too many suspects.

FOR THE WEE FOLKS

DEBBIE AND HER DOLLS, by Lois Lenski.

DEBBIE GOES TO NURSERY SCHOOL, by L. Lenski. Many a pre-schooler will find familiar nursery school happenings in this book.

MONSTROUS GLISSON GLOP, by D. Massie. The monster finds that he can't eat the fish that give the light and still be able to see to read.

THE HAT, by T. Ungerer is a 1970 Honor Book from the Children's Spring Festival.

ELEVEN HUNGRY CATS, by N. Baba with the English version by A. Tressell.

STUPID MARCO, by J. Williams.

Zodiac Reading Started by Library

The Lenawee County Library announces the beginning of its annual summer reading club for boys and girls, grades three through eight. The theme is "Zodiac Reading Club" with booklets, name tags, and posters carrying out the theme.

Membership is free and open to children in the stated age group who have their own County Library cards. There are no weekly or monthly meetings. Each member reads independently, writes short reports on his readings, and has his librarian check his reading record booklet periodically throughout the summer.

Each child who finishes ten books receives an honor certificate and has his name posted on the honor roll at the library.

Children may join the club at the Headquarters Library, 4459 W. U.S. 223, Adrian, on the bookmobile, or at any of the eight branch libraries in Addison, Blissfield, Britton, Clayton, Clinton, Deerfield, Onsted and Ridgeway. Booklets explaining the club are available at all of the above libraries.

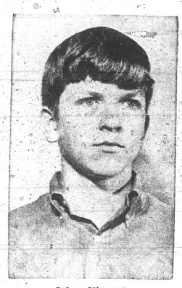
Project Rainfall

By ROBERT OSBURN

John Vincent is participating in Project Rainfall for his second year. In Project Rainfall, 1969, John had the minimum recorded rainfall in the county for the May 4-July 27 period.



John Vincent

He noted 9.55 inches of rainfall.

Born in Detroit Osteopathic Hospital on Jan. 3, 1955, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vincent, Sr. The family lived in Troy until John was seven years old, and then moved to the 40-acre farm five and one half miles west of Clinton where they reside.

Age 15 and a member of the North Franklin Antlers, John enjoys 4-H and especially likes fairtime. During the six years he has participated in 4-H he has taken projects on swine, photography, teen leadership and Project Rainfall.

John has found Project Rainfall rewarding and interesting. He was one of two Lenawee 4-Hers that attended the Camp Kett Weather Workshop near Cadillac this past January. There, among other things, he viewed a slide presentation on a tornado that hit Grand Rapids this past year. He says a project like this takes only a little time and "gets you used to keeping records," besides "causing you to be more aware and appreciative of our environment."

Pastor tell me

By DUANE H. McNEIL

DO OUR LOVED ONES IN HEAVEN KNOW WHAT WE ARE DOING ON EARTH?

Concerning this matter as to whether or not a child of God who has passed into presence of Christ understands what is going on here on earth, the Word of God does not specifically state.

My own conviction is that God veils the eyes of those who are with Him so that they cannot know what transpires on earth. On the other hand, it should be remembered that when one arrives in the presence of Christ everything takes on a different significance.

Those things which caused us concern on earth no longer worry us in Heaven. When one is with Christ he sees everything from the vantage point of the view of Christ. He more fully understands the plan and purpose of God. He sees clearly the end from the beginning. (I Corinthians 13:12, 13).

We should remember, too, that those who dwell in Heaven are no longer bound by clocks, calendars or schedules. Heavenly time is on the basis of a great eternal now, so in this sense our loved ones would not have to wait as we must wait for the completion and consummation of things. The one in Heaven sees everything in its full sense. In God's presence is fullness of joy and at His right hand are pleasures forever more (Psalms 16:-11). There shall nothing be allowed to enter Heaven which would take away from the presence of glory which awaits the child of God.

Feature Cancelled By Rain

By NANCY MARTIN

We almost had it made here at Manchester Speedway Friday night! Most of the races were run with lightning streaking the sky, but the rain held off until the start of the Sportsman Feature. As the cars took the track, so did the rain, and it won out. The race will be run as a make-up in two weeks, as next Friday night is the Memorial Day Trophy Races with a 35-lap Feature.

We finally had a warm night for racing, with lots of cars and a good sized crowd on hand. The track was in good condition, which Mary Carmen proved by setting a new track record of 18:78. The fastest in the Super Stock's was Bill Paxton at 20:18.

The Sportsman heats were run quickly and with little trouble. In the first, Carmen came from the back of the pack to take the lead on the sixth lap and hold it for the win. Dick Thiede was only a foot behind all the way, but had to settle for second. Third went to Larry Blaisdell and fourth to Curt Kelly.

The second car Sarc. Buddwitt take command for the checker over Jr. Gary, Bill Secker and Jim Martin. In the third heat, the black flag was thrown a couple times for cars running more than ½ second over their qualifying times. Jim Bissell was declared the winner, followed by Cal Byrd, Jerry Evilsizer and John Mooneyham. Howard Woodman was first across the line in the fourth heat, chased by Bob Clemons, Quenton Taylor and Dick Beazley.

In the Stockers' heat it was Paxton from the back for the checker over Dale Brenner, Car No. 01, and Harold Heilser.

The Sportsman Pursuit saw Larry Blaisdell do a good job of driving until Carmen zoomed by him for the win. Blaisdell took second; third and fourth going to Jim Drumhiller and Allen Teubert.

On the first lap of the Stockers' Pursuit, Harold Heilser got tangled up and slipped off the back stretch, rolling twice. He was OK and received an up-side down trophy. After the re-start, Paxton again passed all the cars for the win, second was Milton Wood; third, Brenner; and fourth Grindle.

The Sportsman Semi was racing at its best with five and six cars bunched up for the lead all the way through. Butch Mouill came out on top for the checkered flag, followed closely by Gordon Schultz, Evilsizer, Gary Rhoades and Paul Whitaker.

The Stockers' Feature was won by Paxton, over Car No. 01, Ed LaRoe, and Grindle.

Mrs. Lynn Hubbard and Mrs. Earl Lindsley served refreshments.

A potluck picnic will be held at noon, June 2, at the home of Mrs. Paul Lewis. Those desiring transportation may meet at the church at 12:30 p.m.

Joseph Conklin attorney here the past six years, is a member of several bar associations and a past president of the Michigan Rehabilitation Assoc. The Conklins have eight children with six in the Tecumseh schools. "Elaborate school structures are no guarantee of quality education. In many school systems, too much emphasis is on college prep and a lot of youngsters don't want to be there. We have a tremendous opportunity with the new vocational school and we should encourage our youngsters to partake."

John J. Kish, 40, resident of Tecumseh for nearly five years and director of purchasing at Faraday, Inc., is married and father of twin girls, 17 years old. He is a member of Masonic Lodge, Royal Arch Masons, chaplain of Elks Club and past member of Adrian Jaycees. "My experience as Director of purchasing, spending millions of dollars a year at the lowest possible cost, would be beneficial to the efficient operation of the school system. I am also against the dress code that was approved by the School Board."

William Macbeth, incumbent, was appointed to succeed the late Orville Bishop on the Board in January, 1969, and was elected to the Board last June. At that time he sought and successfully won a one-year term to the Board. Mr. Macbeth, vice president of sales for the Tecumseh Products Company, and his wife, June, have three children, Bill, 15, Paula, 14, and Scott, 11. They live at 400 Outer Court in Herrick Park. He was out of town for an interview and unable to make any comments.

Dr. Donald Phelan, incumbent, has practiced in Tecumseh since graduation from dental school in 1958. He and his wife, Mary Ann, have five children, the older three in elementary school and two little girls at home. "Our role in education is to work towards giving all children the necessary background for self-fulfillment in their chosen occupation or profession. It is a crucial time in our whole educational system and I would like to help maintain high standards. Everyone has a responsibility to the schools."

Holmes' Resignation Forced by Complaint

William Holmes, Tecumseh mayor since the city's organizational meeting in April, was forced to resign Monday night and submitted his resignation by letter to Council.

He told his colleagues that a complaint had been made to the State Liquor Commission, and that he had received a letter, May 20, giving him 20 days to either resign or to give up his package liquor license.

Mr. Holmes, owner of Holmes Pharmacy which holds licenses for the sale of liquor and wine, said his attorney advised him to resign rather than contest the complaint.

Councilman George McCombs, president pro tem of Council, assumed the mayor's duties immediately after Holmes' letter of resignation was accepted.

He remarked that it was regretful that the mayor was forced to resign, and that it was petty that a complaint had been made. Identity of the complainant was not made known.

When Council prepared to hold a special meeting for electing a new mayor after the regular session Monday evening, Gregg Forsthofel, city attorney, advised them that it would be illegal since there was no advance notice.

Council then voted to meet next Monday night for the sole purpose of reorganizing and electing a mayor.

Copy of the resignation by Mr. Holmes is:

Gentlemen:

This is to inform you that effective today, June 1, 1970, I must submit my resignation as Mayor of the City of Tecumseh. This is not something I want to do, but what I am forced to do.

On Friday, April 24th, I was informed by the State Liquor inspector that a complaint had been filed with the Liquor Control Commission stating it was against the law for the Mayor of Tecumseh to have a liquor license. As you know I have an SDD and SDM license at my store. I was officially notified on May 20th by letter that I had 20 days to either resign as Mayor or give up my liquor license. I had my attorney check on this and after hearing his report, I feel that I must, in all fairness to my family and business, resign as Mayor.

It has been a pleasure serving as your Mayor and as I still will be able to serve with you on Council, you can be sure I will still be very active in our city's affairs.

Regretfully yours,
William M. Holmes

HELEN RETIRES — Mrs. Percy Bowen will be behind the counter of Tecumseh Post Office for the last time June 12 after 27 years there as a clerk. She was first employed there when her late husband was postmaster and later worked under Wiley McCann, F. E. N. Thatcher, both deceased, and the present postmaster, Jack Metcalf. Mrs. Bowen has two daughters, Dorothy Thumser and Louise Bandemer, and six grandchildren.

Schools Seek Renewal of 14 Mills Monday

Two issues will be on next Monday's school ballot with the electorate voting for or against renewal of 14 mills for operation and selecting two candidates for the School Board.

The operating millage must pass if the schools open in the fall. Authorities have been told that they can not hold another election before Sept. 1, if the voters defeat the millage. This issue boils down as to whether the electorate wants the schools open or closed.

The other issue will be the selection of two boardmen for four-year terms. Two incumbents, William Macbeth and Dr. Don Phelan, are being opposed by John Kish and Joseph Conklin.

Voting will be in the cafeteria at the high school.

A statement about the millage from the Board is:

Parents and all citizens interested in public education are urged to get out to vote on Monday, June 8, at the senior high in the cafeteria.

The hours of voting are 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Absentee ballots are available at the main office at 304 West Chicago Blvd., between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. daily, except Saturday and Sunday. The office will also be open Saturday, June 6 from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., which is the deadline for filing for absentee ballots.

Your Board of Education has done its best to hold the line, so to speak, on the budget and although none of the negotiating groups have completed their salary schedules for 1970-71, the Board has trust that the units will negotiate within the funds available if the 14 mills renewal is approved by the electorate.

There will be funds available from the state and the taxes from increased evaluation within the district to give each unit raises which the Board believes are reasonable.

The schools cannot operate without this fourteen-mill renewal of operating funds. Since there were no radical changes in property assessments in the Tecumseh School District this year, each taxpayer would pay about the same amount for schools as last year.

In the face of rising costs in all other services it would seem wise for the taxpayers to vote the renewal with the hope that next year the state legislature will bring about fiscal reform, and the schools will be placed on a sound financial basis.

The schools may not be able to open on September 8 for the school year if the 14 mills are not renewed. The Lenawee County Elections Board has told the Tecumseh Board that it cannot have another vote if the millage fails to pass, until after September 8th, which is too late to get the assessment on the tax rolls for 1970-71 even if the millage were to pass the second time.

Therefore, the schools would have no voted taxes with which to operate and could not open for classes at all. Therefore, it is imperative that the electorate pass this renewal millage.

Education is the key to success. Tecumseh children may be deprived of an important portion of their lives if this millage is not passed. Remember, the Board of Education is not requesting additional funds for this year, but a renewal of the funds they have received in the past. Remember also, that your schools cannot improve programs and hire additional personnel to better educate your children with this 14-mill renewal. It means that they more or less mark time with programs costing the same as last year.

Signals, Gates Recommended

Installation of automatic flashing signals and gates at the Norfolk and Western Railroad crossing on North Raisin Center Hwy. was recommended by Harry E. Taylor of the Public Service Commission Thursday afternoon.

At the meeting held at the crossing, Mr. Taylor also recommended improvement of the crossing.

Approximately 20 persons, including representatives from the Norfolk and Western, County Road Commission, Raisin Township, Sheriff's Dept., State Rep. Robert C. Stites and local residents, attended the meeting.

Mr. Taylor said that the earliest date the signals could possibly be installed is November. Cost of the installation will be divided equally between the county and railroad with the county also paying $10 a month for maintenance of the crossing.

Two fatal car-train accidents have occurred at the crossing in the last three years. Last month, there were two accidents at the crossing, one of which was fatal.

Petitions initiated by Mrs. Robert Engel of Academy Road in 1964, and signed by over 100 area people, prohibited school buses from crossing the tracks.

When crossing the tracks, a driver has to make a complete stop, then turn and look back to see if a train is approaching. A train coming from the west is not visible until it has rounded a curve.

According to railroad representatives, freight trains travel the tracks at 60 mph with passenger trains attaining speeds of 70 mph.

Mr. Taylor said the railroad company would have 21 days to file an objection to his recommendations.

Rites Held for Former Auto Dealer

Services were held Saturday in Detroit for Gale H. Fisher, 82, former Tecumseh auto dealer, who died Thursday at St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac.

The Fishers had been living in Troy for the past five and one-half years.

Born June 17, 1887, in Ridgeway, O., he married the former Ima L. Britton in 1914. She survives. The nearby local village of Britton was named for her parents.

Mr. Fisher operated the Pontiac Sales Company here from 1949 until his retirement in 1964.

He was a life member of Tecumseh Masonic Lodge and Rotary Club. He was graduated from Adrian College in 1912 and was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Besides Mrs. Fisher, one daughter, Mrs. E. Raymond (Jane) Ernst of Troy and one sister, Mrs. Rex Copeland, of Russells Point, O., survive.

The Rev. Blair Bashore officiated, and burial was in Ridgeway Cemetery.

New Civic Band for Tecumseh?

Anyone interested in blowing their horn? If so, contact the Tecumseh Recreation Department.

Ward Eardley, director, says the department is interested in organizing a civic band for summer evening concerts.

Young and old are invited to attend an organizational meeting at the Community Center at 7:30, night of June 16.

Council Rejects Township Plan for Assistance

A proposal from Franklin Township officials that Tecumseh help pay in improving a half-mile section of Pawson Rd., near the Walker Landfill, was quickly dismissed and rejected by Council Monday night.

The request apparently was based on the fact that the city and its residents use the road to drive to the landfill.

City Manager Cal Zorn said it would be no different than asking the township to help the city maintain the streets which township residents use driving to and from the Tecumseh Products.

Fence Is OK'd for City Garage

Council authorized erection of a four-foot high fence, over 500 feet in length, for its property at the city garage, Monday night.

Cost is $825.

Register To Swim

Registration for swimming lessons at Joyce Andrews' Memorial Pool will be 3-5 p.m. daily, Monday, June 8 through Friday, June 12.

Fee for swimming lessons, beginner through adult, will be $5 per pupil. The fee for non-residents of the Tecumseh School District will be $6 per pupil.

There will be three sessions of instruction. The first session will be June 15 thru July 3. This session is only three weeks and the daily lessons will be 40 minutes long. The second session will be July 6 thru July 31.

The third session is Aug. 3 thru Aug. 28. The week of Aug. 31 thru Sept. 4 will be a make-up period for those missing lessons because of vacation, Bible school, etc.

Check Mishaps

Car driven by Marvin Seegert, 25, of Monroe, struck the rear of a car operated by Donald Clark, 31, of King Mobil Court in Adrian, at the corner of Russell Road and S. Evans St.

Clark was stopped at the intersection, started forward, then stopped quickly and was struck by Seegert.

Tecumseh Police investigated an accident when Alfred Haystead, 66, 350 Elm, Britton, pulled his car off the road in the 900 block of W. Chicago Blvd. to check for a flat tire.

He then proceeded to make a U-turn into the opposite lane, colliding with a car driven by Erwin Richardson, 54, of Onsted. Richardson said he was watching the traffic and did not see Haystead make the U-turn.

Police ticketed Haystead for failing to yield to oncoming traffic and failing to wear corrective lenes.

Police were called when a car driven by Jess Baughey of Russell Road struck a car owned by Mrs. Wayne Thorp of Rogers Hwy. and left the scene of the accident.

Baughey told police he didn't think he had done any damage so he left, but said he would pay for the damage done.

Three Bids Let by City

Bids, amounting to approximately $80,000, were let by Council Monday evening for curb and gutter, storm sewers and bituminous surfacing.

Wes Haeussler was low bidder for curb and gutter at $15,500; Brady Sand and Gravel, storm sewers, $29,900; and Ayling - Cunningham, bituminous, $34,980.

The State Highway Department is presently advertising for bids for re-surfacing the westbound lanes on W. Chicago Blvd., between Adrian St. and Pearl, and on E. Chicago between Oneida and Wyandotte.

Clinton Sewer Gains Support

Additional support was thrown behind a plan to link Clinton's sewer system with Tecumseh's Monday night when John Seeley, partner in Ann Arbor engineering firm of McNamee, Porter and Seeley, told officials here that there's "nothing but benefit for both communities."

Art Eaton, Tecumseh Township Supervisor, also spoke in behalf of the plan but warned city officials to approach it in the proper manner and without the attitude of annexation of more township property.

He said that if there is "no hanky-panky," the township would help but only if the city were cooperative and with the attitude of helping its neighbors—but not through annexation.

The supervisor questioned that the proposed 18-inch sewer was big enough with the large, potential industrial and residential growth likely to occur between Clinton and Tecumseh. He pointed out that the area could change rapidly in the next five years and a small sewer would be foolish.

Mr. Seeley also questioned the size of the sewer and indicated a preference for a larger one. He said the size of the sewer, which would be more than adequate to handle Clinton's average flow of 80,000 gallons per day, should be large enough to handle growth of the village and for a developed area between the communities.

He, like Mr. Eaton, suggested that the city determine a satisfactory rate and one that should provide Tecumseh with a modest profit. He pointed out that acceptance of Clinton's sewage at the local plant would accelerate Tecumseh's need to expand facilities here by one or two years.

Mr. Seeley advocated that the city participate financially in constructing the sewer, but said that this and many other details would have to be worked out with Clinton officials.

Mr. Eaton said the city could extend its utilities to township residents and double its regular utility fee, remarking it would be good business for Tecumseh and good for township residents. He added that an increased fee was proper, and that "no one should get a free ride."

Councilmen appeared favorable toward Clinton's plan to dispose of its sewage here and passed a resolution indicating Tecumseh's receptiveness.

Details and methods of financing, which were discussed by Mr. Seeley and Cal Zorn, city manager, will be expected to result from joint meetings between Clinton and Tecumseh officials.

However, she would like to give them to a historical organization, which might want them.

FAIRWAY LOVERS

Golf. A sport for all, regardless of age. It is fun, relaxing, healthful, pleasureful and a real joy to play.

But it can also be frustrating, ridiculous, stupid, a waste of time, a game for fools, and yes, even maddening.

No matter what your opinion of golf is, it's here to stay and growing every year. Count the number of golf courses right here in Lenawee County and then try to get on one of them on any given Saturday morning.

Golf has a magnetism unparalleled in any other sport. Not only can you watch the professionals compete for fabulous money on Sunday afternoons, but you, too, can compete for friendly money the next time you play.

How many can refrain from making those friendly 25c a hole, 10c a stroke wagers, which sometimes become anything but friendly.

There is real satisfaction to be found in firmly gripping your favorite club and chipping from the fringe, running it up to the cup and having it drop in. Or making a par on that tough par-five hole, or a birdie, or even an eagle.

And how about that rare hole-in-one with the yardage becoming longer, the wind stronger, the sand trap bigger, the green smaller and the skill greater every time it is remembered and reminisced.

Aren't you glad to blast out of the sand trap and land close to the pin and be able to salvage your par? Aren't you glad just to get out of the sand trap after some strange fate forced your ball to land there?

But don't forget, even though we may try, the hooked or sliced drive, the dubbed shot, the two-foot putt that didn't break, the best drive you hit all day only to have it land behind a tree, the putt that stopped on the lip of the cup, or even worse, the putt that circled the cup but refused to drop.

And how can we forget the golfer's worst enemy, the bogey, the double bogey and, need I make you cringe any more? For these are the spoilers of golf, the morale destroyers, a force so strong and damaging, it can make grown men weep unashamed.

They are the dangers lurking somewhere between the tee and the green, patiently waiting for thir opportunity to crash down on all who dare to challenge them and leave their mark permanently etched upon the score card.

Any golfer or golfing buff truly appreciates the colorful and unique language associated with the sport. Examples of it are scattered throughout the column and the list is seemingly endless.

How about the terrifying and chilling shout of "fore"? A lie is not what your wife suspects you are telling if you get home late and a stymie is not a hex you put on the opposition.

Golf, like many other things, can become habit-forming and it takes a special kind of person to stop playing. This person must be either very honest with himself and strong-willed, completely frustrated and mentally broken, or the worst golfer to ever set foot on a course.

I know of one instance where a player was really bad and continually threatened to quit, but never would. Then one day, he became so disgusted while playing that he picked up his ball, walked back to the clubhouse, sold his clubs and hasn't been seen on or near a golf course since that day.

Most of us, however, will continue to play and always remain faithful to it. Some may ask, how can anyone become so intent and involved over trying to hit a little white ball into a hole in a game called golf?

But to those of us who know and love golf, it is not a game, nor a sport or hobby, it is a way of life.

BEHIND the COUNTER with

CARL LAMB

DROWNING

It's tragic to think of how many people are rescued from drowning — and then nobody knows how to provide artificial respiration. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is easy to learn, and should be practiced from time to time.

You can begin this as soon as the drowning victim is pulled into the boat, or on to shore. First, place him halfway between a face-up and a side position. Then litt his neck with one hand and, holding the top of his head with your other hand, tilt his head back. Pull his chin up with the hand that was lifting the neck, so the tongue doesn't fall back to block the air passage.

Take a deep breath and place your mouth over the victim's nose or mouth, making a leakproof seal by holding his lips closed with your thumb, or pinching the nostrils closed. In mouth-to-nose breathing, be sure your lips don't seal the victim's nostrils.

Blow your breath into the victim's mouth or nose until you see the chest rise. Then remove your mouth and let him exhale while you take another deep breath. As soon as you hear him breathe out, replace your mouth over his and repeat the procedure. Repeat 15 times per minute.

The same technique can be used for victims of suffocation by plastic bag, electric shock, concussion and choking on a foreign body. It's well worth learning.

$10,000 Goal For Clinton Fund Drive

CLINTON — A new goal of $10,000 was set for the Clinton United Fund Drive, to be held Oct. 5-19, at the meeting May 25 at the high school.

Board members decided to increase the goal in an effort to obtain funds to replace the worn-out hospital equipment, beds, wheel chairs, crutches, etc., which is available for use in the community.

Mrs. Mary Hull was appointed general chairman of the fund drive. Mrs. Hull said it is important that employees in factories outside the community request their contributions be designated for the Clinton United Fund. Although many households tell the canvasser, "My husband contributes where he works," these contributions are not reaching the home community unless designated.

Other drive chairmen are: Mrs. Elwin Witherell, organizations; Forrest Swift, large business; Mrs. William Kroger and Mrs. Walter LaSovage, small business; Michaels Walls, faculty; Paul McKenna, churches; Mrs. Joyce Marcum, town canvass.

Mrs. Robert King is publicity chairman.

A general meeting will be held in September for planning the fund drive.

Dr. Evart Ardis, Placement Director at U of M, will be the commencement speaker at Clinton High School, Sunday, at 4 p.m., at Hartman Field.

Rotary Dinners End

CLINTON — Members of the Women's Fellowship of the United Church of Christ have voted to discontinue the serving of weekly Rotary Club dinners, effective July 1.

Action came Thursday at the business meeting which followed the planned salad luncheon arranged by the officers of the Fellowship as a climax to the year's activities. The church women have served weekly Rotary dinners for more than 25 years.

Relationship with the Rotarians has always been a most satisfactory one. However, it has become increasingly difficult to obtain enough circle leaders and cooperation of members to assume the responsibility for the dinners. A recent poll of members confirmed the lack of interest and triggered the action.

A service of installation was held for Mrs. Arthur Hill, who was re-elected president, and other new officers: vice-president, Mrs. Robert Vogel; secretary, Mrs. Norman Pratt; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Pence, member of nominating committee, Mrs. E. John Hoelzer, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Donald Corwin and parish chairman, Mrs. William Shelley.

Committee chairmen will be elected and installed in the fall.

Plans were made for the annual reception for graduates to be held Sunday, June 7, following worship service. Invitations have been sent to 22 graduates of high school and college who are associated with the church.

It was voted to provide the cost of registration fees for Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Paul Dunham to attend the Women's Fellowship camp week at Pilgrim Haven in June.

Mrs. Edgar Randall reported on the material aid projects for the year. A quantity of 300 lbs. of used clothing, four quilts, kimonos, boys' shirts and baby garments are on hand as the result of winter sewing meetings. Members voted to send these articles to the Christ United Church of Christ, inner city, Detroit.

Mrs. Robert King announced plans for the Community Vacation Bible School, a cooperative effort of all the churches within the village. It will be held week day mornings for two weeks, June 15-25.

Mrs. Ben Mahrle II presented the devotions on the Memorial Day theme. Her message was a reminder that despite present deference to youth, one should pause to "pay respect to our elders and our ancestors," who have contributed so much to the well-being of the community and the church.

"A well-used memory is a holy thing," Mrs. Mahrle quoted from the book, "Best Wishes."

Mrs. Mahrle introduced the speaker, Mrs. Robert Hunt, Ypsilanti, the new president of the Women's Fellowship of the Ann Arbor-Jackson Association of United Church of Christ.

Besides being a wife and mother of two small children, a student for the past 15 years, presently a student teacher who will receive her BA degree next week, Mrs. Hunt is an extremely articulate and enthusiastic speaker.

She offered a "hatful of ideas" on the subject of "Organization."

She suggested leaders must learn to listen to the other side of questions.

She likened the role of a leader to the largest of a set of gears, revolving slowly, but only effectively, if all the assisting smaller gears are set in motion.

She suggested, "we must put aside our nostalgia for a simpler day." We can learn to live the Christian way of life and discover our oneness in Christ—in all our human relationships. "We do not belong to a church; we are the church," she concluded.

Next meeting of the Fellowship will be in September.

Also to be elected are two members of the Board of Education for four-year term.

Candidates are: Lester Proctor and Donald Geiger, who are present members of the board, and Harold Brown, Robert Way, Robert Werner, Glenn Clark, William Stout, Jr., and George Wolf.

Worship Services For Summertime

CLINTON — Summer time schedule begins Sunday at Clinton United Methodist Church with both the morning worship and Sunday School at 10 a.m.

June 7 there will be a reception for the graduating seniors of the church immediately following the service.

The former pastor, the Rev. David Liscomb and his family, of Escanaba, will be guests of the Rev. Dean Parker for the week of the Detroit-Ann Arbor Conference June 11-15. Rev. Liscomb will be the guest speaker at the worship service in the Clinton church June 14.

Ladies Sew Toys

BRITTON — "Christianity is a 24-hour-a-day affair, not just for Sunday or church," said Mrs. Chester Kurowicki in leading the devotions Tuesday evening for the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Bethel Baptist Church. She cited James 3: 7, 8 as helping her to keep control when vacations became difficult.

Fifteen women met at the church to sew stuffed animal toys to be donated to the Baptist Children's Home in St. Louis.

Due to graduation activities the meeting was held earlier in the week.

The ladies voted to host a graduation open house for Barbara Kempf June 10 at the church.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Charles McCarbery who passed away seven years ago, June 5, 1963.
The morning was long
When you were in surgery.
In the lobby we waited
For some encouraging word.
When Doc first came down,
He said, "Things didn't look good."
His next return was the sudden blow.
That your heart just refused to go.
You will never be forgotten
As long as we have breath,
And when that's gone—"It won't Matter, Dad, we'll be together then in death."
Sadly missed by his wife, Wanda, children and grandchildren. 6-4p

In loving memory of Edward J. Aebersold who, 50 years ago on June 5, 1920, bestowed upon me his good name: also in memory of Julia Craig Ridge and Ernest Church who were our attendants.
Margaret Gregg Aebersold. 6-4c

GRIPTON HARDWARE AT BRITTON HAS HISTORY OF SERVICE TO COMMUNITY

Store In Village History

BRITTON — Before 1896 the hardware store was owned by the Osgood Brothers. In 1896 Haite and Gripton took over the business and two years later Mr. Haite sold out to George L. Gripton. The store then became known as Gripton Hardware.

At the age of nine, Mr. Gripton's son Glen went to work in the store. Deliveries were made in a chain driven truck and during the winter by bob-sled, always accommodating and ready to meet the needs of the people.

In 1908 the store was destroyed by fire along with the biggest part of the business block of Britton. Though the loss was great, part of the hardware stock was saved. Mr. Gripton, loyal in serving his community, quickly leased the second story of the Lenardson block and was soon back in business. From here he greeted his many customers and friends until the new store was built.

After fifty years in the business, carrying the Estwing hammer in his line of stock, the Estwing Co. presented Mr. Gripton with a gold hammer. A total of 68 of Mr. Gripton's 91 life years were dedicated to the hardware business.

His son Glen Gripton, with the help of two employees, La-Von Tubbs and Mrs. Elwood Tucker, are serving the community with the pleasant "ready to please" Gripton style.

It is another picture and information of village history being compiled by the Britton Camp Fire Girls for a book to be published at a later date.

Through My Window

OH-POSSUM

This story would have had a very different ending had it not been for people who cared. Thanks to them I need not write about tragedy, instead I can tell you right now that there will be smiles and we hope a and-they-lived-happily-ever-after.

It was mid-morning when Wanda and Judy came into my room and something was wrong. They both looked so solemn, serious, and yes, even worried that we knew there were problems. Indeed there were.

Wanda had looked out a window and seen something in the yard back by the bushes. It was obviously a dead animal. Her neighbor, Judy, recognized it as an opossum. As the two looked more closely, they saw little heads popping up here and there around the dead mother. The disposal of a dead animal as large as an opossum can be a problem but, what does one do with babies?

This was the question they brought into my room. While Wanda, Judy, and I were talking, fussing, and shaking our heads in despair, discarding one bad idea after another, Gertie T. was busy with a telephone book. She finally, very casually asked if perhaps the Conservation League could help. Wanda rushed home, called, and reported back that apparently a happy home for the orphans had been found.

Arlene Griewahn had played foster mother to possum litters in the past and would be only too glad to do it again. Nothing could be done for the mother, of course, and so it was decided that after school, when Mark could put a strong foot on a spade, a possum funeral would be held.

★

ABOUT THE TIME, Wanda and Judy started through Carmen's back yard to collect the babies, Gertie S. noticed the commotion and wondered what was up. The Neighborhood Rescue Operation was now up to full force. As the first two held the empty carton, Gertie S. preceded to fill it with six—no, it turned out to be seven cute little baby possums.

And they were cute too. When he came home for lunch, Fred brought them over for us to see. Mostly long tail, big head, and long snout, the one he picked out of the box cuddled down in the cup of his hand. Although an adult possum will never win any beauty prizes, these youngsters were most appealing.

Their eyes were big and shiny black; their rounded stand-up ears were unfurred and pink; tiny fingernail claws showed on—well, possums have eighteen claws but the 'thumb' on either foot is nailess; and already their strong jaws were lined with little white teeth which, remembering how they are with puppies, were probably as needle sharp as they looked. As expected, Fred thought it would be fun if he and Carolyn could raise the possums.

★

BUT CARING FOR a litter of wild animals is not something to be undertaken lightly. It is a job—a hard, full time job with a capital J. And oh, what knowhow it takes. How, for instance, would you give aid and comfort to a frightened and trembling box full of newly orphaned babies? Would not your first thought be of warm milk? Wanda's was but fortunately, she had a second thought. I say fortunately because Mrs. Griewahn lost her first batch of baby possums when she switched them to homogenized milk.

Five days after they were taken to their new home, I checked with their foster mother and all seven are doing well. They are still bottle babies but, instead of being on their two hour schedule, it is a three to four hour thing. They are also beginning to drink a little formula drizzled on Mrs. Griewahn's fingers. Hopefully they will soon graduate from the bottles.

So it is that, as I said in the beginning, because of people who cared, there is a happy ending to the story of the baby oh-possums.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITOR:

We, in the Clinton school district, have been involved in a bitter conflict. Friendships and even family ties have suffered, but most of all our schools have suffered. Teachers, administrators, and other employees have been working under a strain. Our accreditation by the University of Michigan has been put in jeopardy due to the dissent within our Board of Education. Who really suffers? — our students.

At the very root of our problem is "Conflict of Interest". Our Board president, an assistant principal in another school system, sits at the head of the local corporate body which is responsible for the employment of our superintendent, and professional jealousy is not considered a rare human trait. This situation must be changed at the polls June 8.

As if there were not enough "Conflict of Interest', our Board president also has his wife teaching in the system. This is not unprecedented in the Clinton Community Schools. In fact, my wife was on the Board for five of the six years I taught. It became such an awkward situation, however, when master contracts and teacher negotiations became legal that she did not run again. Jim Woodward, our previous Board president, did not seek another term after his wife began teaching locally. The Clinton electorate should see to it that no future Board member has a spouse who is employed by the Board.

It is extremely gratifying to see so many competent candidates for the two Board of Education positions open this year. Inasmuch as only two can win in this election, I hope those well-qualified who are not chosen will maintain their interest and run another year, even if the issues in that election are not so controversial.

Sincerely,
Edwin V. Wight.

DEAR EDITOR:

What a feast I had during Michigan Week! Many thanks to all who did such an outstanding job. Even though I was on the receiving end I can say on behalf of the Senior Citizens that we, too, used to plan, lead, and produce. The Centennial Celebration and the 125th Anniversary are only two of the events to be remembered with pride.

Where could you live that you could begin the week by going with the Senior Citizens to visit a nearby country church service and enjoy a Beef Bar-B-Q dinner afterwards then back to town in time to hear Mr. Joe Satterthwaite speak to bright-eyed and excited recipients of special scholarships; attend a Senior Citizens Open House for the townspeople where they served home made pie; hearing Miss Beth Satterthwaite and Mrs. Edna Heilman, both pioneers of this community, speak to the Senior Citizens; visit a beautiful flower show, watch a parade and then attend a dinner where 300 wonderful looking people gathered to hear Bud Guest—all of this in one week. Is it any wonder that I am bushed?

Guess I'll go wash the week's accumulation of dishes and catch up with the ironing. Not a thing took care of itself while I was "living it up" during Michigan Week in Tecumseh, the Refrigeration Capitol of the World. Am looking forward to next year!

Sincerely,
Ruth V. Rentschler (Mrs. T.)

Mrs. Stanley Cook Wins Garden Club's Merit Award

Ribbons of many colors added a final touch to a room full of beauty after judges finished classifying the horticulture exhibits at the Little Garden Club show.

Highest prized ribbon were the orange rosettes for "Award of Merit," for the best cut flower and the best plants in the show. Mrs. Stanley Cook's hybrid French lilac was the best cut flower. Its double florets made a solid mass of bloom on the stems.

Mrs. Bagdon also won the coveted orange ribbon in the club's last show, in December, 1968, for a Jade plant which now is too large to be transported.

FFA Holds Annual Banquet

Future Farmers of America Chapter of Tecumseh High School held their annual Parent-Son (or daughter) Banquet Monday, May 9 in the high school cafeteria with the FFA mothers planning and preparing the meal.

The program was opened with President Bill Mukenstrum welcoming the members and their parents and invited guests. Devotions were given by Debbie Swift. Dinner was served to approximately 100. The menu included southern fried chicken which was prepared with the chickens that the chapter bought, raised, killed and cleaned themselves.

After dinner there was an introduction of this year's officers, President, Bill Mukenstrum; Vice-President Earl Ruttkofsky; Secretary, Randy Skinner; Reporter, Debbie Swift; Sentinel, Jim Sisson.

This year's awards were presented to the following: poultry, Bill Mukenstrum; livestock, Chuck Munger; placement, Ron Wimple; crops, Earl Ruttofsky; star greenhand, David Whelan.

Corsages were presented to the Honorary officers of the FFA: Mothers Club, Mrs. William Sisson, Mrs. William Beagle, Mrs. Arthur Fritz.

The guest speaker for the evening was Janet Ruesink, IFYE delegate from Lenawee County, showing her many interesting slides and giving a narration on her trip to Ceylon. Miss Ruesink had on display souvenirs which she brought home from Ceylon, many of them given to her as gifts.

Miss Ruesink explained that every chapter member when they reached the age of 20, would be eligible to apply for the IFYE, with the only cost being clothing and camera.

Other invited guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kastal, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whelan, Mr. and Mrs. Prettyman and Mr. Dick Whelan from Whelan Implement Company.

Tecumseh FFA advisor is Paul Burns.

Marv Carmen Wins Feature

By Nancy Martin

A large crowd was on hand Fri night at Manchester Speedway for Memorial Day Trophy races. The winner of each event was presented with a trophy for his efforts. It was a wild evening with lots of action, blown engines and just good racing. The fastest qualifiers of 56 cars were Marv Carmen for the Sportsman and Bill Paxton for the Stocks.

In the Sportsman Modified class, the first heat saw Curt Kelly take the lead on the third lap and hang on for the win over Dick Theide, Don Macey, and Junior Gary. In the second heat, it was a battle between Farmer Budwitt and Jim Martin, until Dick Slagle found a hole between them. They finished Budwitt, Slagle, Martin and Dick Slade.

Rookie Ken Liedel won his first trophy by taking the third heat over Howard Woodman, Cal Byrd and Paul Whitaker. The fourth had several leaders with Gerry Lippert coming out on top for the win just ahead of Fred Wordon, Dick Taylor and Hank Mastie.

In the pursuit, all but two cars were eliminated by the fifth lap. Carmen took the checker by passing Macey in the seventh lap. Third and fourth places went to Gerry Tryon and Thiede.

Paul Whitaker took the lead half-way through the Semi with Ray Barnard moving in fast until they ran into slower traffic, tying Barnard up and allowing Whitaker to be first across the finish line. Barnard took second followed by Dean Mackey, Lippert and Byrd.

The caution flag was out several times in the 35 lap feature, but Carmen hung in there for his third trophy of the evening. Following in close pursuit were Sam Henson, Thiede, Jim Bissell and Fred Saltenright.

In the Stockers class, the heat race was a slam bang event with Paxton taking the lead on the last lap from Ed Todd. The finish was Paxton, Todd, Dutch Taylor and Ray Thomas. The pursuit was almost a repeat of the heat with Paxton, Todd, Jeff Pierce and Taylor.

We had to have two restarts for the feature, which eliminated four cars, before we finally got underway with the race. Taylor drove the whole way with Todd on his back bumper, but managed to hang on for the win. Todd finished second followed by Pierce, Harold Heisler and Thomas.

Henry Garcia Found Guilty

Circuit Judge Rex Martin found Henry Garcia, 44, of Adrian, guilty in the first degree of the Dec. 15 murder of Garcia's wife, Eileen, in the parking lot at Pearless Gear Division, Clinton.

First degree murder conviction in Michigan is a mandatory life sentence in prison.

Blevins Rhinehart, 37, also of Adrian, also was shot and killed in the same parking lot that morning.

Trial, lasting five days, ended Wednesday after the judge had taken the facts of the case under advisement and declared his verdict.

Judge Martin said he was convinced Garcia's wife was afraid of him, and had hid from him that weekend, following a struggle which ensued at the plant's Christmas party, the Saturday before the shooting. Testimony revealed Garcia had been drinking extensively throughout the weekend.

Testimony was heard from 39 persons who were in the parking lot at the time of the shooting. However, it was subsequently shown that no one was near the defendent when the shots were fired, according to Prosecutor Harvey Koselka.

Court appointed attorney for the defendent was Gaylord Baker. He had waived a jury trial because he felt the court with its training could be more appropriate in making a decision in the case.

Recreation Program Has Activities Galore

Tecumseh's annual summer recreation program starts next week, and it appears to be the largest and most complete ever conducted here.

Over 25 high school and college students are working under Ward Eardley, recreation director, to make the city's program available to hundreds of youngsters and adults.

A rundown of scheduled activities is:

Swimming: Lessons start Monday at the pool. Registration and additional information may be obtained there. The Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool will be open for swimming from 1 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evenings. Tecumseh park will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. after school is out.

Tennis: Instructions for beginners and intermediates will start Monday under the direction of Emily Manwaring.

Playgrounds: Supervised recreation for children of all ages will be held at the Patterson, Tecumseh Acres, West Branch and Herrick Park playgrounds, from 9 to noon on weekdays.

Junior Olympics: For youngsters between ages of six and 17 who are interested in participating in a city-wide junior olympic program with champions here going on to Detroit and participating in the state olympics. Special, daily training periods will be under the direction of Miss Manwaring.

Craft Center: For older children interested in arts and crafts at the Community Center. Classes start next Wednesday.

Adult Tennis: Competitive-type tennis instructions will be under the direction of Bruce Campbell. These advanced classes start June 25.

Girls Softball: Starts next Tuesday at Nelson Field for pee wee and junior girls. Youngsters are scheduled at 1 p.m. and the juniors, at 2 p.m.

Pee Wee Baseball: For young lads needing to learn the fundamentals of baseball. Action starts next Wednesday at 1 p.m. with games to be played at the athletic field on N. Evans St.

Women's Softball: Provides an opportunity for housewives and moms to enjoy some recreation. Starts next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the athletic field.

Children's Theatre: This program is tentatively scheduled. It will include play productions by children for children.

Civic Band: Organizational meeting is next Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Community Center. All musicians are invited.

Other city programs include the Teen Drop-In Center and meetings of the Senior Citizens.

With the exception to swimming lessons at the pool, folks interested in obtaining additional information about the various activities are urged to contact Mr. Eardley at the Community Center, phone 423-2107, extension 25.

Excluding life guards and pool and concession workers, those employed in the summer program here are Diane Lake, Miss Manwaring, Linda Young, Linda Wheeler, Nancy and Barbara Hamilton, Rosanne Gerten, Jannette Jurkowski, Debbie Swift, Jackie Rodgers, Betsey Bock.

Fred Gerten, Tom Merx, Rick Bunch, John Merz, Tom Edwards, Steve and Mike Tilton, Mike Steele, Bill Knapp, Bryan Des Ermia, David Carpenter, Steve Adair, Steve Kampmueller, Guy Manwaring, Craig Van Camp and Hugh Conklin.

Dan Anderson and Jack Edwards are in charge of maintaining the recreation area.

Flag Day is June 14.

I AM OLD GLORY. For more than nine score years I have been the banner of hope and freedom for generation after generation of Americans. Born amid the first flames of America's fight for freedom. I am the symbol of a country that has grown from a fledgling group of thirteen colonies to a united nation of 50 sovereign states. I am so grand in every fold, so linked with mighty deeds, so steeped in the blood of heroes, so torn and tattered by the blitz of war. I am the symbol of national unity. So long as men love liberty more than life itself, so long as the principles of truth, justice and charity for all remain rooted in human hearts. I shall continue to be the enduring banner of the United States of America . . . I AM OLD GLORY.

Accident Rate Takes Jump

Nine accidents, including one which sent a four-year-old boy to Herrick Hospital and one involving a young girl on a bike, were investigated by Tecumseh police during the past week.

With one exception, most of the mishaps were minor, although four suffered minor injuries. Five drivers received citations.

A resume is:

June 3 — Keith E. Swain. 34, of 247 W. Chicago Blvd., pulled too far out on E. Cummins St., and was struck by Juanita M. Parker, 39, of 308 W. Pottawatamie, who was driving south on S. Maumee St.

June 4 — William T. Mukensturm, 18, of 9526 Bramble Rd., ran into the rear of a car driven by Andrea L. Ocamb, 17, of 417 S. Occidental. Accident occurred at W. Chicago and Occidental. Mukensturm was charged with following too close.

June 5 — Marvin E. Hammond, 77, Britton, was cited for failure to yield after pulling away from a curb and running into Allen W. Reister, 36, Onsted. Accident happened on W. Chicago at Evans.

June 5 — Delores A. Lawhead, 33, of 4230 Occidental Rd., was charged with failure to yield after a mishap with Leona E. Ashenfelter, 35, of 4127 Comfort Rd., at S. Evans at Russell Rd. Mrs. Ashenfelter sought her own treatment for slight injuries.

June 5 — Frank Lisbun, Clinton, reported backing into a motorcycle behind the Party Shop. Bike belonged to Rick Clewis of Seneca St.

June 6 — Wayne R. Brooks, 22, of 2154 E. Monroe Rd., was cited for failure to yield after an accident with J. C. Myers, 23, of 737 S. Union, at Willow and Cairns Sts.

June 8 — Gale R. Kayner, 21, Adrian, was charged with failure to yield after colliding with Jimmie R. Arnett, 36, of 708 S. Occidental Rd., who was turning into a drive on S. Occidental. Jose L. Faz, 29, and Eldon Lawhead, 35, both of Adrian and passengers in the Kayner auto, suffered minor injuries and sought their own treatment.

June 8 — Laurie Failing, 14, of 322 Park St., was thrown from her bicycle after the bike's front wheel locked. She complained of facial pains and was taken to Herrick Hospital by the sheriff's department.

Millage Renewed by Clinton Voters

CLINTON — At the annual election in Clinton Community School District, 559 voters turned out to cast a resounding approval for the four mills operational renewal, 363 yes to 118 no.

Elected to the two four-year terms on the board of education were Lester Proctor, 354 and Robert Way, 231. Other candidates received the following votes: Harold Brown, 25; Glenn Clark, 137; Donald Geiger, 77; William Stout, 65; Robert Werner, 91; and George Wolf, 109.

GEORGE McCOMBS

McCombs Is New Mayor

George McCombs, Tecumseh's most experienced city official, was elected mayor Monday night at a special meeting of Council.

The mayor's vote was six to one, with Murray Palmer receiving the lone vote, presumably from Mr. McCombs.

Ray Puffer was elected president pro tem, edging Dr. Charles Knisely, four to three.

The city's new mayor has 16 years experience on Council, starting back in 1947. At that time he served as president pro tem under four mayors including Marvin Watkins, Harold Easton and William Holmes.

Mayor McCombs was on Council at the time that Tecumseh changed its status from village to city, over 15 years ago.

Extends Deadline For Reservations

Deadline for reservations for Tecumseh High School alumni banquet has been extended to June 13. Tickets are available at Gambles, Jean Colgrove's, Lamb's or Don's Beef Buffet.

Mrs. D. J. Martin said that those unable to get downtown could make reservations with Jim Curth, 515 W. Kilbuck St. by sending $4 per person for their tickets.

"Remember When" is the theme of the event with Dennis Bryan, soloist, and resumes of the Class of 1920 given by Mrs. Helen McIntyre Sisson and the Class of 1960 by Mike Fero.

Mrs. Gerald Eaton will accompany Mr. Bryan and play dinner music on an organ loaned by Flanders Music Co. A roll call will be taken.

Punch hour will be at 7 p.m., preceding the dinner served by United Methodist Church women of Macon.

Volunteers from the class of 1960 are needed June 26 at 7 p.m. to set up tables for the following evening. Anyone who can help is asked to call Mrs. Kay Rickard Cubberly.

Tipton GI Is Killed in Vietnam

Warrant Officer Danny L. Dewey, 22, was killed June 5 in Vietnam. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Latham Dewey, 11827 Tipton Hwy., were notified of his death, the seventh area serviceman to lose his life in the present conflict.

Born Feb. 22, 1948, he was a graduate of Tecumseh High School, attended Northern Michigan University at Marquette for two years and was employed at Budd Co., prior to entering the Navy in March, 1969.

Dewey received basic training at Fort Polk, La., and was a helicopter pilot in the Seventh Squadron, 17 Cavalry.

He attended Tipton Community church and was formerly a member of the Youth Fellowship there. He was also a 4-H Club member.

Two brothers, John L., in the U.S. Navy and Michael, 11, at home also survive with the parents.

Arrangements are incomplete at Proctor Funeral Home until the body arrives from Vietnam.

$27,000 Awarded for Tecumseh Park

State assistance, amounting to $27,000, for development and improvement of Tecumseh Park, has been awarded to Tecumseh, according to Cal Zorn, city manager.

The funds will be used for improving the park's road, constructing a parking lot, erecting a fence and other projects, some recreational.

To qualify, the city must provide a stipulated portion, which is $6,000.

Mr. Zorn says the funds may not be received for two or three years, depending on when the state sells its bonds and decides to distribute the monies.

Adrian qualified last year and has yet to receive its funds.

Faraday Cuts Work Week to 4 Days

Effective Friday, June 12, Tecumseh's Faraday facility will be operated four days per week.

According to the company, this reduction is necessitated as a result of a substantial buildup in inventories and will continue in effect until such time as these inventories have been reduced to acceptable levels.

Office personnel, including marketing, engineering and administration will continue to work a full five-day week.

Don Dyer Hired As Track Coach

Don Dyer, Eastern Michigan University graduate and assistant there for the EMU track team, has been employed by the Tecumseh schools as varsity track coach here.

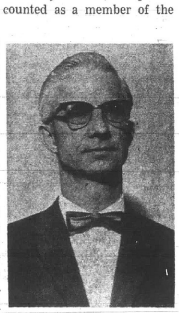
Dyer, 25, also has two years' outside teaching experience. He succeeds Tom Fagan as track coach.

Commencement Here Sunday for 216 Graduating Seniors

Sunday afternoon will mark the end of 12 years of schooling for 216 Tecumseh High School seniors who will receive their diplomas at exercises scheduled at the athletic field.

Officials will not be certain of the exact number graduating until final examinations are completed Thursday morning. One student, now in the military service, completed his studies in January but is counted as a member of the Class of 1970.

This year's class, although one of the largest to ever graduate here, is 32 shy of the record number — 248 — which accepted diplomas a year ago.



REV. ALFRED C. SHELEY

An annual highlight of past exercises will be missing Sunday when only a few scholarships will be awarded, compared to scholarships amounting to over $40,000 in past years. An Internal Revenue Service ruling has resulted in the cancellation, at least for this year, of the eight $4,500 scholarships, presented annually by the Herrick and Sage foundations.

The Rev. Alfred C. Sheley, Sr., pastor of the Church of God, will give the commencement address, titled "Step Number Two."

The local minister received his BE degree at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla., and his religious training at Lee College, Cleveland, Tenn.

He served as district superintendent at the Portsmouth, Ohio, area for the Church of God. He also served four years on the State Youth Board in Ohio, before coming to Tecumseh eight years ago.

Lee Dollison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dollison, will give the valedictory, and Betsey Bock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bock, the salutatory.

Supt. James McDowell will award the diplomas, with Neville Hart, high school principal, presenting the class to him.

In case of inclement weather, the services will be moved in the gym, where tickets for admission are required. The program outside is open to the public.

Mills Renewed; 2 Incumbents Are Returned

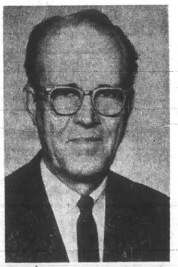
With approximately one-third of the district's registered voters going to the polls Monday, Tecumseh schools were given a renewal of 14 mills by over a three to one margin.

Final tally was 946 to 291.

William Macbeth and Dr. Donald Phelan, both incumbents, won re-election to four-year terms. Joseph Conklin placed third andd John Kish, fourth.

Unofficial results show Macbeth receiving 678 votes; Phelan, 663; Conklin, 594; and Kish, 423.

Total number of voters, including those who cast absentee ballots prior to the election, was 1,248.



REV. PAUL BRANTINGHAM

Brantingham Is Leaving

Pastor Paul Brantingham will be bringing his last message Sunday, June 14, in the Tecumseh Friends Church.

This is the termination of a 13-year ministry to the church and community.

Mr. Brantingham has accepted a position with the Cardinal Division of Champion Homes and will be transferred to Paris, Tenn.

The Brantinghams will be living in the community until the middle of July.

Rev. and Mrs. Dane Ruff of Williamsport, Pa., have been engaged as pastor and will assume the pastoral duties August 1.

Leg, Arm, Shoulder Broken

Four-year-old John Schulze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Schulze, 907 Russell Rd., suffered serious injuries last Friday night after he ran into the side of a car, passing his home.

The young boy suffered a broken leg, upper arm and shoulder, bruised lung and abrasions and bruises.

According to the Tecumseh police report, John ran onto the roadway after two autos, one dirven by Earl Harrison, 74, of 107 Burt St., and the other by Donald Clark, 31, of Adrian, had met and passed each other.

Harrison, headed east, said that after meeting Clark, he heard a thump and saw an object flying through the air. Clark, traveling west, told police that he had noticed two boys playing along the road, and after meeting Harrison, he looked in his rear view mirror and saw the young boy fly through the air, landing on the north edge of the road.

David Schulze, John's brother, told officers they were going to a nearby gas station when his brother suddenly darted onto the roadway.

The family says the young boy's condition at Herrick Hospital is listed as serious.

IRS Ruling Cancels 8 Big Scholarships

Who, this year, will win the eight Herrick and Sage Scholarships, each worth $4,500 to a deserving student at Tecumseh High?

The answer, unfortunately, is no one.

A recent ruling by the Internal Revenue Service has resulted in the cancellation of these scholarships, at least for this year, according to Neville Hart, high school principal.

While these eight large grants are being dropped for 1970, the annual Lucius B. Lilley scholarship also is being cancelled.

The Herrick Foundation scholarships have been awarded here for over 20 years, the Sage, since 1963, and Lilley scholarships for the past 12 years.

Where scholarships have amounted to over $40,000 in the past, this year they will amount to approximately $7,000.

Scholarships to be awarded Sunday include:

Eastern Michigan University, $240.

Kalamazoo College, amount unknown.

University of Michigan Regents Alumni, amount unknown.

Tecumseh Education Association, two, $100 each.

Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary and Judy Fielder Memorial, $100.

State of Michigan Competition Scholarships, eight totaling $3,800.

State of Michigan tuition grant, $800.

State of Michigan honorary scholarships, no monetary value.

Kiwanis Club, $100.

University of Chicago, $930.

Herrick Hospital Auxiliary Health Career scholarships, two, $200 each.

Western Michigan University, $50.

Jaycees Plan July 4 as 'Tecumseh Day'

Tecumseh's Junior Chamber of Commerce have tagged July 4th as "Tecumseh Day" here with an array of activities and events already planned.

Festivities will start with a parade in the morning, and it will include the Tecumseh, Ontario bagpipe band plus other bands, including the Tecumseh High School band.

Main events will be a rodeo at the athletic field, fireworks display, an afternoon teen dance, baseball games, greased pig contest, free swimming all day at Tecumseh Park, waterball fight between Raisin Township firemen, Tecumseh, Ontario and local firemen, pony pull contest, and exhibitions in western style square dancing by the Shawnee Squares.

Refreshments are being planned by the Jaycees in the triangle on N. Ottawa St. and will include a Kiwanis Club wagon and Rotary Club beef roast. VFW is contemplating serving dinners at its parking lot.

Jaycees, along with some city officials, already have visited the Ontario community to invite them to participate in the day's activities.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Did anyone find a straw Dutch oven in Osburn's Woods? Girl Scout Troop 123 lost one four weeks ago when they were hiking in the area. Equipment was left for pick up later and it is thought that perhaps the big black cast iron kettle didn't reach the pick up spot. Just maybe one of the gals may have left it along the road and someone found it. If so, a call to Mrs. Richard Egli 423-4557 would bring quick rescue of the favored cuisine.

Mary VanDoren at Bauer Manor is a booster for local industry. She has recently installed refrigeration in the relish table with a unit straight from Tecumseh Products Co. Now one can enjoy delicious salads and goodies from the old fashioned crocks and containers of yesteryear knowing that the food is chilled with equipment made by our own people. We are proud of the plant here, largest in the world to make refrigeration units.

In Sunday's St. Elizabeth Church bulletin one paragraph tells of the upcoming trip of the altar boys to the Detroit Tiger Baseball game June 13. It states, "After the Tigers have won, we hope to return to the school by 6 p.m." Wonder what happens if they don't win?

Engagement of Lydia Torres to Sp/4 Jesus Jasso is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Torres, 108 Hiawatha St. She is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and is employed at Herrick Nursing Home. Mr. Jasso is the son of Silvestre Jasso, Bay City, and the late Mrs. Jasso. He is stationed with the Army, Chestertown, Md. A July 4 wedding is planned.

Mrs. D. J. Martin Elected Prexy of Xi Delta Gamma

Xi Delta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was the guest of the Xi Upsilon Chapter at the home of Mrs. Arthur Wagoner in Adrian recently.

Yellow roses, white candles and the Beta Sigma Phi crest enhanced the ritual table for the joint Exemplar Installation ceremony.

Installing officer Roberta Deronek assisted by Mrs. Charles Miley and Mrs. H. L. Tucker, all of Adrian, installed the following officers as lighted candles were held by members.

Xi Delta Gamma officers for the ensuing year are: president, Mrs. D. J. Martin; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Martin; recording secretary, Mrs. Harley Slick; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Howard Wilson and treasurer, Mrs. John Korican.

Miss Deronek presented each member with a book mark with a "Rose Poem" and each newly installed officers received one yellow rose.

Assisting the hostess were Xi Upsilon members, Mrs. Arthur Flasck, Mrs. Melvin Boltz, Mrs. Paul Rozsar Mrs. Joseph Marcy, Mrs. David Williams, Mrs. John Hathaway and Mrs. Kate Dermeyer.

Punch and fancy hors d'oeuvres were served at a table decorated with the silver tea service.

Engagement of Vicki Brees to Bruce A. Mertz is being announced by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Dan Brees, 1322 Lakeshore Dr., Brooklyn, formerly of Tecumseh. She is a 1966 graduate of Tecumseh High School and graduated from Grace Hospital School of Nursing, Detroit, June 5. She will be employed there beginning June 29. WHAT! You Still Don't Have YOUR GARAGE FIXED?

Why keep putting off fixing that battered garage when a little effort with some help from Moores would put it in good shape, bright and shining again. Siding or paint will fix up that exterior after 2 x 4's have been replaced and the roof has been reshingled. Maybe you should build a new one.

Early Certification by Farmers Urged

Farmers participating in the Feed Grain or Wheat Programs for 1970 are reminded that early compliance and early certification will mean early payments this year.

Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, said that farmers should certify to compliance with program regulations as soon as possible, but they must understand that acreage certifications are not to be made until farmers know they are in compliance with all program regulations.

As soon as a wheat or feed grain producer certifies, the county office will process his papers for his full payment for the 1970 program. Payments to producers will begin soon after July 1 and are expected to be completed by the end of August.

Smith emphasized that certification by program participants should not be made until the producer knows the exact acreage he has planted and diverted, as required by program regulations.

June 22 is the final date for certifying for wheat, and July 15 for corn and feed grains.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

So, we are looking for a Music Man to organize a band, right here in River City? Mighty fine idea, Ward Eardley, and we hope you have an excellent turnout for that meeting at Community Center June 16 at 7:30 p.m. Brings back memories, too, of the Tecumseh Ladies Band led by the late Clare Camburn years ago. A slide trombonist of that group and a dear member of our family, Bessie Foster, was wondering recently what happened to those instruments, not owned by individuals, as some might think, but by the entire group. Anyone know? It would make interesting copy.

We remember snuggling beneath that purple and gold cape one Wednesday night as the ladies sat on a platform in the center of downtown Tecumseh's main intersection waiting for their turn to perform. My, they were grand but it must have been around 1930 that they disbanded.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Filber, 208 N. Maumee, are extending an invitation to friends and relatives to attend a graduation open house for their son, William, Sunday from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. William is a member of the graduating class of Tecumseh High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sinkey spent several days recently in New York with their daughter and her groom, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D'Erasmo. They returned for an open house in Ypsilanti for another daughter, Mrs. Michael Wolf, who was graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a music degree. GENERIC DRUGS

In the continuing controversy over whether drugs should be prescribed by their chemical name or by their trade name, it's sometimes hard to understand how medicines can be "equal but different."

Medicines are rarely made up of just one ingredient. The main agent — that which has the most power to affect the body — is called "active." But there are others that are needed to carry the active ingredient through the body.

Two tablets may contain the same active ingredient, but will have different amounts.

And even medicines with equal amounts of the active agent can be different. It may be made up into a tablet, liquid, capsule, injection or ointment. These involve different kinds (or amounts) of non-active ingredients.

That's one reason the argument continues: nobody can be sure that different amounts of active and non-active ingredients will have the same effect on the sick person.

For that matter, even the same dose of a drug made by one manufacturer may have different effects on two members of the same family. It's a difficult problem.

Skip Hackett Wins Stockers

By NANCY MARTIN

Cool weather prevailed at Manchester Speedway Fridday night but we had a good crowd on a big Michigan racing weekend. The fans had a bonus as a make-up feature, rained out two weeks ago, was also run and won by Junior Gary, followed by Sam Henson and Curt Kelly.

In the sportsman class, Henson was running good as he took the lead quickly in the first heat, and held it all the way to the checker over Marv Carmen, Mike Shaw and Dick Slade. In the second, Farmer Budwitt started on the front and stayed there. He was followed across the line by Gordy Schultz, Jim Stevens and Jim Drumhiller.

Three cars spun in the first lap of the third heat, holding the whole pack up. Bud Elting was the only one to avoid it, and won by a commanding lead over Ken Leidel, Gary Rhoades and Ray Barnard. Howard Underwood, after several years of not driving, came back to pick off the fourth heat, followed closely by Jim Slade, Floyd Dillion and John Weinhardt.

In the pursuit, cars were spinning all over the track, hailing the yellow. With just three cars remaining by the fifth lap, Marv Carmen quickly pulled this one off by passing Howard Woodman and Larry Leidel.

The semi was a wild one, but Ray Barnard did ah expert job by staying just ahead of Elting to the finish line. Elting finished second, Stevens third and Ken Leidel fourth.

It was a "photo finish" in the feature with Dick Thiede and Drumhiller just inches apart. Thiede had the extra inch that made the difference. Drumhiller took second, trailed by D. Slade, Henson and Jim Shook.

In the stockers, Skip Haskett came in from St. Clair Shores and quickly got the feel of the track as he was the fastest qualifier, won the pursuit and also the feature. Runnersup in the pursuit were Dale Moor, Ed Ba-Roe, and Harold Heisler. Trailing him in the feature were Dutch Taylor, Moar, Heisler and Mike Grindle. Taylor won the heat, followed by Clave Eley, Dave Stableton and Haskett.

Our wishes tonight for a quick recovery go out to one of our most promising young drivers, Larry Blaisdell, who suffered a heart attack after competing here last Friday night. He is in room 124 in Herrick Hospital, Tecumseh, and would appreciate cards. Also to Bill Kopka, driver of car No. 16, who was injured in an auto accident before the races tonight. He is in Foote Hospital, Jackson.

June 19 will be the date for the first Destruction Derby of the year. Trophies will be awarded.

BRITTON — Mary-Martha Circle members were hosts for the Women's Fellowship meeting at the Congregational Christian Church last Wednesday when a potluck supper was served to the ladies.

The program was on a patriotic theme.

Mrs. Paul Rowlands gave the devotions by reading a poem, "Flag." She also gave another reading on "Liberty" and led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. [illegible] was written by George Washington.

Mrs. LaVern Weyher read a story on the American flag.

Mrs. Keith Swain led the group in the singing of "America", accompanied by Mrs. G. O. Hannevik.

Mrs. Gerald Benedict, president of the Fellowship, opened the business meeting with "Teacher Speaks".

Plans were made to have the annual fall church supper and bazaar Sept. 17 with the Sunshine and Priscilla Circles in the kitchen and the Golden Rule and Mary-Martha Circles in the dining room. Our Sincere Thanks

To those who have been so kind to my mother and me. My mother, who will be 90 this fall and one of the horse and buggy families of this area, has been lavished with attention by her friends and has received the most kind and understanding help at the Herrick Nursing Home. Her days have been brightened by so many. After spending 4½ weeks in Bixby Hospital, I extend my gratitude for the wonderful care there from the staff and doctors, and for the wonderful remembrances from my friends. Your kindness is deeply appreciated.

SENSELESS DESTRUCTION

To the vast majority of people, it is known as vandalism, malicious destruction of public or private property.

To the rest, however, it is called freedom of expression, an attack against the "Establishment," fun and something to do.

This damage has been a negative mark against society for many years and there does not appear to be any positive and complete solution forthcoming.

Last Friday, I went to five places, the Community Center, Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool, Community Park on Maumee St., the park behind Patterson Elementary School and Tecumseh Park, with Recreation Director Ward Eardley to see what damage had been done.

At the Community Center, we found two broken windows. That's not too bad, until you consider what it costs for a new window and to have it installed. Only two windows were broken, but remember, that was last Friday. How about a week ago last Friday, two weeks ago, or today?

Picnic tables at the Community Park are chained to trees. Eardley said they did not want to chain the tables, but had to because they have been found in Evans Creek several times.

Sound like a drastic measure to curb vandalism? It might until you see the picnic tables at the park behind Patterson School which also were chained.

But anyone who has destruction in mind is not going to be deterred by a chain. They'll find a way to break it.

According to Recreation Director Eardley, buckets, broken chairs, hobby horses and many other types of junk were found in the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool when the department started to clean it this spring.

Inside the building, Eardley said faucet handles and shower heads had been broken and replaced and several toilets were also damaged.

A quick walk around the building disclosed the following damage, covers taken off fans on the rear wall, windows broken and examples of the infamous language which once could only be found inside public facilities, but has now emerged and is boldly scrawled upon outside walls.

It appears that most of the damage has been done at Tecumseh Park. A list of the damage we found follows:

1—Posts in parking lot pulled out so cars could drive on lawn.

2—Rocking Elephant, which was welded to its stand, stolen but recovered. Cost is estimated between $100-$175.

3—Penguin, part of a swing set consisting of different animals broken.

4—Diving platform on one raft torn down and thrown in water.

5—Second diving platform partially torn down.

6—Flag pole snapped off approximately ten feet up.

7—Mercury vapor lights which have transformers inside, taken off poles and thrown in pond.

8—Lights on outside of building taken. All the outside lights except one were either broken or stolen.

9—Plate glass window above the entrance was broken with a rock and replaced for approximately $100.

10—Window screen cut.

11—Hydraulic mechanism on the inside of several doors were broken off.

12—Two rear windows broken. According to Eardley, all the rear windows have been replaced once this spring already.

13—"Pit" spray painted on sign at entrance.

Several questions have come to mind. One is all this destruction done in the dark of night when no one is around? Granted, most of it is probably done then, but what about the damage done during the day.

Do all vandalist acts occur before blind eyes? Does everyone fear ostracization from their clique so much that they will remain silent when they should speak?

The ones who really lose from these acts of vandalism are the city and the taxpayers. The city has to live with the resultant reputation and attempt to remedy it and the taxpayers have to carry the burden of paying whatever it costs.

According to Eardley, cost of repairing damage done since last fall amounts to approximately $2,000. This is nothing more than wasted money. This is money which could help finance new recreational facilities.

These are only five places where vandalism has been done. It would not be difficult to find at least five more which have similar damage.

I offer no new explanations as to why this destruction takes place and no new methods of preventing it.

It is up to you, the citizens of Tecumseh.

Decide what needs to be done and do it. Apathy only worsens the problem. It won't make it go away. Only a cooperative effort by you can end it.

Your city, your problem, what are you going to do?

Camp Attended By FFA Officers

BRITTON — June 6 and 7, six Britton FFA officers and their advisor, Paul Marks, attended the Region II Leadership Camp held at Camp Palmer, Fayette, O.

Following boys attended: Rodney Taylor, president; Garv Maska, vice-president; Bob Gilbert, secretary; Bill Rowe, treasurer; John Gilbert, reporter and Gale Snohr, sentinel. These boys were elected to their new office last April and will lead the chapter during the coming new school year.

They attended leadership camp to gain more information about office responsibilities and how to better serve their chapter.

Dick Schroeder presided as secretary of the Region II.

Registration started the first day followed by general session, cabin meetings and group discussion. The first officer training session, organized recreation and officer interviews were held. Cabin entertainment contest was held. Regional Farmer Degree and Star Regional Farmer ceremony was held this year for the first time.

Sunday morning church services were held, arranged by the six Waldron FFA officers. The boys enjoyed such activities as volleyball, football, softball, and swimming, while also trading ideas and holding discussions with students from Waldron, Ida, Chelsea, Whiteford, Sand Creek, Saline and several other schools.

Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar held an open house Friday evening for their son, Greg, who was a member of the graduating class at Britton-Macon High School.

Friends, relatives, teachers and classmates congratulated Greg and presented him with many gifts.

A white sheet cake, decorated with school colors of light blue and dark blue with a boy graduate on top, was featured on the refreshment table.

Out-of-town guests were from Adrian, Hudson, Ogden Center, Toledo and Sylvania, O., and Valley Station, Ky.

Greg is working at Lamb's Drug Store in Tecumseh and plans to enter Adrian College in the fall.

Birthday Honored by Surprise Party

Forty-eight children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren gathered for dinner including home-made ice cream.

They came from Fostria, O., Detroit, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Addison, Adrian and Tecumseh.

Mrs. Linger managed to keep the affair a surprise until Saturday night when the long distance calls came in too fast for her to glibly brush them off.

Auxiliary Donates To Hyder Fund

Auxiliary potluck picnic will be held June 17 at Tecumseh Park on Adrian St. at 6:30 p.m. Those attending will bring a dish to pass and table service.

All the new officers, recently installed, will assume their duties at the July meeting and new chairmen will start their books.

WITCH'S BROOM, MAYBE — This strange formation of growth is hanging high above the walk in a Chinese elm tree on the Rod Brown property at the corner of Chippewa and N. Maiden Lane. Object of much conversation, it was suggested by Dr. Fred Freeman of Hidden Lake Garden, that it could be a fungus growth called a witch's broom, a gall produced by irritation, mites or other stimuli. Legend has it that the tree was flown over by a witch. Neighbors have noticed the growth for the past three years and it increases in size. Dr. Freeman said that sometimes a witch's broom will live as long as the tree does.

Pastor tell me

By DUANE H. McNEIL

DO I NEED AN EXPERIENCE?

Some persons are mislead in this area. There are few, very few, who have had a dramatic emotional experience accompanying their salvation.

We must not deny God the privilege of dealing with men as He pleases. If He wishes to make a man shiver, shake or otherwise disturb him, who are we to question this?

The Bible tells us that God will normally work in men without there being great "experiences." Salvation comes by Faith. Simple belief in the work of Jesus Christ upon the cross as for one's self is the method of Salvation. Faith does not require feeling to make it complete, for it is sufficient in itself.

We must add that knowing our sins are all forgiven and indeed removed will cause us great relief. Such relief may indeed bring great inward sensations. No one can describe these things. One can merely assert they are so—based on personal experience.

You can know it, too. Acts 16: 31, I John 5:13."

OPEN LINE

Q What is scientific forest management?

A In the early years of Michigan's industrial development, loggers overcut our native forests and left behind eroding riverbanks. Consumers Power helped to restore these lands through reforestation. Today, through scientific forest management, we set limits on the number of trees cut down and continue to plant new trees where needed. Thus the forests provide a continuing harvest for use by the wood and paper industries.

Q What kind of recreation facilities are available on Consumers Power lands?

A Consumers Power maintains 39 recreation areas along the Muskegon, Manistee and Au Sable Rivers. These areas are variously designated for camping, boating, picnicking and fishing. All are open to the public, and we ask only that visitors respect the rules pertaining to use of the lands. For reasons of sanitation, we try to keep the public particularly aware of camping regulations.

Q What are the limits of camping in the recreation areas?

A Camping is permitted only at those sites where it is authorized. These authorized campsites are equipped with the necessary services and facilities. Most are operated by the State of Michigan. Consumers Power must insist that any tents and trailers in unauthorized areas be removed. Only by observing the rules can we keep our recreation sites in good condition for use by all.

Making Life Better

No, John Halberstam isn't a farmer.
He's planting trees for the power company.

For Consumers Power, cultivating trees is an important part of our good neighbor policy. The company owns some 750 miles of land along the banks of the Au Sable, Manistee and Muskegon Rivers. By combining the operation of our hydroelectric plants with scientific forest and land use management, we are able to provide vacationers with some of Michigan's most beautiful recreation areas. Where riverlands have been misused in the past, we have worked with state and federal conservation agencies and with volunteer groups to reclaim the areas. Because we live here and work here, we care about making life better.

Mother Of Three Among Graduates

BRITTON — Mrs. Richard (Donna) Bruce, Jr., wife and mother of Kim, 12; Rickie, 10 and David, 8, graduated with honors Friday evening at Britton-Macon High School as she proudly accepted her diploma with 46 other graduates.

Donna dropped out of school when she was a sophomore at Tecumseh High School several years ago and regretted it many times.

Some of the reasons Donna gave for going back to school were to receive a diploma which would help her in getting a good job if the occasion ever arose that she needed one and for her own personal satisfaction.

She says, "I needed to prove to myself that I was capable of finishing school if I tried, and I didn't want my children to use my lack of a high school education as an excuse for them not to finish school if the idea ever arose."

Things she enjoyed about returning to school she said was that she found how really enjoyable the students were to be around. She never, in her two years, encountered any snide remarks about the "old lady" from any of the kids. She says about the students that she couldn't have found a nicer group of classmates anywhere.

Donna said, "I also received a much better understanding of the problems that confront our young people today and the problems they have to solve. Many adults don't realize that these students are really much more intelligent than they are given credit for."

The only pitfall she found in the senior class was how neglectful some of the students were about taking part in their senior activities. "One doesn't realize what he's missed until it's too late to recapture all the fun of sharing these experiences with his classmates," she said.

"I have nothing but the highest praise and gratitude to give the whole student body, the faculty and the administration at Britton, they all made my two years a very enjoyable experience," she said.

Without the help of her husband and three children and all her friends and relatives, who kept boosting her morale when it got low, Donna says she would never have made it through the past two years.

As for more education she says that she is not ready to tackle any more education right now. Helping her husband on the farm and being a full-time mother seems like a real nice job, at least until the children are older, then she says she may consider to further her education.

THE REV. WALTER KRONEMEYER AND ARTIFACTS.

Jungle Adventure With Uncle Walt

BRITTON — In lieu of Daily Vacation Bible School, Bethel Baptist Church is having family week beginning Monday, June 15 through June 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The Sunday services June 14, at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., will feature "Uncle Walt", Kronemeyer who is in charge for the week.

He promises a trek on jungle trails to primitive tribes into a world of witchcraft and wild animals via color film.

Thrill to the sound of talking drums, leopards' roar, tom-tom beats and learn with demonstration of black magic, the social culture, customs and ingenuity of primitive people.

Walter Kronemeyer, affectionately known as "Uncle Walt" has spent fourteen years, with his family, as missionaries, living deep in the jungle with the primitive tribes, in mud walled, thatch roofed houses. Their food consisted mostly of rice and deer elephant, crocodile or monkey meat. Roasted termites and snails rounded out the diet in the African jungle.

He has trekked, by foot, over thousands of miles over danger-infested trails, treating disease, pulling teeth and attempting to dispel superstition and fear. He spent years putting into written form a language that had never been written before.

Mr. Kronemeyer has a rare collection of artifacts, relics, and curios to show on the journey through jungle trails. He tells of many weird and thrilling experiences with wild animals, snakes and witch doctors.

This program has been presented, with the highest acclaim, in over a thousand schools from Maine to Kansas. It was auditioned by School Assembly Service with top rating. Mr. Kronemeyer has the ability to make his listeners "live" the experience of trekking jungle trails.

These meetings are opened to the public.

Pastor tell me

By DUANE H. McNEIL

DO I NEED AN EXPERIENCE?

Some persons are mislead in this area. There are few, very few, who have had a dramatic emotional experience accompanying their salvation.

We must not deny God the privilege of dealing with men as He pleases. If He wishes to make a man shiver, shake or otherwise disturb him, who are we to question this?

The Bible tells us that God will normally work in men without there being great "experiences." Salvation comes by Faith. Simple belief in the work of Jesus Christ upon the cross as for one's self is the method of Salvation. Faith does not require feeling to make it complete, for it is sufficient in itself.

We must add that knowing our sins are all forgiven and indeed removed will cause us great relief. Such relief may indeed bring great inward sensations. No one can describe these things. One can merely assert they are so—based on personal experience.

You can know it, too. Acts 16: 31, 1 John 5:13.

OPEN LINE

Q What is scientific forest management?

A In the early years of Michigan's industrial development, loggers overcut our native forests and left behind eroding riverbanks. Consumers Power helped to restore these lands through reforestation. Today, through scientific forest management, we set limits on the number of trees cut down and continue to plant new trees where needed. Thus the forests provide a continuing harvest for use by the wood and paper industries.

Q What kind of recreation facilities are available on Consumers Power lands?

A Consumers Power maintains 39 recreation areas along the Muskegon, Manistee and Au Sable Rivers. These areas are variously designated for camping, boating, picnicking and fishing. All are open to the public, and we ask only that visitors respect the rules pertaining to use of the lands. For reasons of sanitation, we try to keep the public particularly aware of camping regulations.

Q What are the limits of camping in the recreation areas?

A Camping is permitted only at those sites where it is authorized. These authorized campsites are equipped with the necessary services and facilities. Most are operated by the State of Michigan. Consumers Power must insist that any tents and trailers in unauthorized areas be removed. Only by observing the rules can we keep our recreation sites in good condition for use by all.

Making Life Better

No, John Halberstam isn't a farmer. He's planting trees for the power company.

For Consumers Power, cultivating trees is an important part of our good neighbor policy. The company owns some 750 miles of land along the banks of the Au Sable, Manistee and Muskegon Rivers. By combining the operation of our hydroelectric plants with scientific forest and land use management, we are able to provide vacationers with some of Michigan's most beautiful recreation areas. Where riverlands have been misused in the past, we have worked with state and federal conservation agencies and with volunteer groups to reclaim the areas. Because we live here and work here, we care about making life better.

Mother Of Three Among Graduates

BRITTON — Mrs. Richard (Donna) Bruce, Jr., wife and mother of Kim, 12; Rickie, 10 and David, 8, graduated with honors Friday evening at Britton-Macon High School as she proudly accepted her diploma with 46 other graduates.

Donna dropped out of school when she was a sophomore at Tecumseh High School several years ago and regretted it many times.

Some of the reasons Donna gave for going back to school were to receive a diploma which would help her in getting a good job if the occasion ever arose that she needed one and for her own personal satisfaction.

She says, "I needed to prove to myself that I was capable of finishing school if I tried, and I didn't want my children to use my lack of a high school education as an excuse for them not to finish school if the idea ever arose."

Things she enjoyed about returning to school she said was that she found how really enjoyable the students were to be around. She never, in her two years, encountered any snide remarks about the "old lady" from any of the kids. She says about the students that she couldn't have found a nicer group of classmates anywhere.

Donna said, "I also received a much better understanding of the problems that confront our young people today and the problems they have to solve. Many adults don't realize that these students are really much more intelligent than they are given credit for."

The only pitfall she found in the senior class was how neglectful some of the students were about taking part in their senior activities. "One doesn't realize what he's missed until it's too late to recapture all the fun of sharing these experiences with his classmates," she said.

"I have nothing but the highest praise and gratitude to give the whole student body, the faculty and the administration at Britton, they all made my two years a very enjoyable experience," she said.

Without the help of her husband and three children and all her friends and relatives, who kept boosting her morale when it got low, Donna says she would never have made it through the past two years.

As for more education she says that she is not ready to tackle any more education right now. Helping her husband on the farm and being a full-time mother seems like a real nice job, at least until the children are older, then she says she may consider to further her education.

THE REV. WALTER KRONEMEYER AND ARTIFACTS.

Jungle Adventure With Uncle Walt

BRITTON — In lieu of Daily Vacation Bible School, Bethel Baptist Church is having family week beginning Monday, June 15 through June 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The Sunday services June 14, at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., will feature "Uncle Walt" Kronemeyer who is in charge for the week.

He promises a trek on jungle trails to primitive tribes into a world of witchcraft and wild animals via color film.

Thrill to the sound of talking drums, leopards' roar, tom-tom beats and learn with demonstration of black magic, the social culture, customs and ingenuity of primitive people.

Walter Kronemeyer, affectionately known as "Uncle Walt" has spent fourteen years, with his family, as missionaries, living deep in the jungle with the primitive tribes, in mud walled, thatch roofed houses. Their food consisted mostly of rice and deer elephant, crocodile or monkey meat. Roasted termites and snails rounded out the diet in the African jungle.

He has trekked, by foot, over thousands of miles over danger-infested trails, treating disease, pulling teeth and attempting to dispel superstition and fear. He spent years putting into written form a language that had never been written before.

Mr. Kronemeyer has a rare collection of artifacts, relics, and curios to show on the journey through jungle trails. He tells of many weird and thrilling experiences with wild animals, snakes and witch doctors.

This program has been presented, with the highest acclaim, in over a thousand schools from Maine to Kansas. It was auditioned by School Assembly Service with top rating. Mr. Kronemeyer has the ability to make his listeners "live" the experience of trekking jungle trails.

These meetings are opened to the public.

Through My Window

ONE MORE TIME

You knew I couldn't do it, didn't you? You just knew that I could not tell you about Wanda's baby possums and drop it there; you know I would have to start digging through some animal books and then share a few of the amazing things they said. Well, you were right and so here goes—

Amazing is the right word for opossum. They belong to one of the oldest living families of mammals and there is irrefutable evidence that their ancestors roamed the earth, in company with dinosaurs, better than 70 million years ago.

They are perfect examples of the old adage that beauty isn't everything because the kindest thing one can say is that the opossum is ugly. But oh, these weird characters are adaptable. Their wants are few and they are far down the list of specialized animals. This is no doubt one of the important reasons that as a family they have survived so long.

And speaking of survival, we are all familiar with their old trick of "playing possum". When danger approaches, the animal flops over on his side and plays dead.

There is some dispute as to whether the action is voluntary or not but the fact remains that, when it is necessary, this large cat-sized animal goes into a trance-like stupor. When the danger is passed, he "comes back to life" and ambles away.

★

IF HIS PIG SNOUT, naked tail, and grizzled looking gray and dirty white fur coat will earn him no beauty prize, neither will his intelligence stand him in good stead on the College Bowl. In fact, his brain cavity is about six times smaller than that of a raccoon's. No genius he.

What a candidate for an animal dentist, though! O 'possum has a mouthful of 50 teeth. No wonder one of the things we noticed about the little orphan Fred held in his hand that day was its tiny teeth.

The opossum is America's only pouched animal, or, if you like good words, they are our only marsupials. Australia's kangaroos are distant cousins; however, a kangaroo's pocket is horizontal whereas our animal's is vertical. After a surprisingly short gestation period, 12½ days, the incredibly tiny and extremely immature babies are born — tiny such as weighing about 1/15th of an ounce and immature to the point of having only nubbins for legs and feet.

The completely naked and blind babies are able to crawl into the pouch and there, probably seven of the litter, which may number up to 18, survive. For the next 60 to 70 days mother 'possum carries the freeloaders in her pouch where they do nothing but eat and grow.

At about 2 months, with eyes open, fur coats well started, and size approximating that of full grown mice, they begin to venture out into the big wide world. Not very far, though. For the next month they spend most of the time riding piggy-back, often using their prehensile tails to "hang on" to their mother's tail which, at such times, she carries arched forward over her back.

The orphans in our neighbors' yard must have been in this stage of growing up. They certainly were not completely weaned yet but they were well developed and able to wobble about on their weak little legs.

★

AGAIN GOING back to the simplicity of the life these animals lead. Their food includes practically anything; a farmer or a dedicated gardener might be upset at their raids on fruit or vegetables but balancing this would be the insects and rodents they very happily lunch upon. No self-respecting 'possum pays much attention to a well-furnished, carefully kept home.

When about to give birth, the female seeks "any port in the storm", anything from an old raccoon's den to a deserted owl's nest. These night moving about animals may, in our area, hole up for a few days when the winter weather blows extremely severe but they do not hibernate or even make a systematic practice of scouting out a warm shelter.

So it is that I close the books on the opossums but thank you for letting me ramble on about them one more time.

Project Rainfall

By Steve Church

Mike Feight, 14, is a first year participant in Project Rainfall. Born April 11, 1956, Mike celebrated his ninth birthday Palm Sunday, 1965 and the tornado made it a memorable one. Mike lives on Russell Road with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Feight, two brothers and two sisters. He has lived at this address all his life.

This is Mike's fifth year in 4-H. Some of his other projects are: dairy, five years; crops, one year; and outdoor cooking, one year.

Helping out on the family farm, Mike uses his interest in math to good advantage in figuring milk and butterfat records. The care of the baby calves has been Mike's special responsibility for five years, and he finds great satisfaction in watching them grow to maturity.

Mike's other interests and activities include playing football for Tecumseh Junior High where he is in the eighth grade. He also plays a saxaphone in the school band.

Mike also enjoys dabbling in the kitchen. He has been known to create various dishes. His best to date has been pancakes made "from scratch."

He finds Project Rainfall "very interesting" and it provides him with information that he finds both interesting and informative.

Install Waterway To Control Erosion

Several landowners in the Lenawee Soil Conservation District are installing grassed waterways this year. To date a total of 164 acres of grassed waterways have been installed in the county. Most waterways are installed during the months of July or August because of drier conditions existing at this time.

Designs were recently completed by U. S. Soil Conservation Service technicians for three separate waterways on the Raynor Hardy farm. Mr. Hardy, of Franklin Township, wants to install the waterways to remove surface water from sloping fields. After the waterways are installed he plans on raising the plow when plowing the fields. This will allow a permanent sod cover to remain in the waterways at all times.

Joe Prochaska, of Macon Township, will also install a waterway this year. This waterway will minimize the tons of soil loss from the field. It will be a good permanent type soil conservation practice.

Grassed waterways are designed according to the acreage draining into the area. Top widths of waterways generally vary from about 15 feet to as much as 30 to 40 feet or more. The bottom of the waterway should be at least four (4) feet wide. This will allow the water to pass through the waterway over a wider area instead of V-shaped natural drain that can cut and erode easier.

After the waterway is properly constructed, a good level seedbed should be prepared. Commercial fertilizer of at least 500 lbs. of 12-12-12 per acre should be worked into the topsoil.

Seeding should be during August or early September. Several seed mixtures can be used. A good one is 5 lbs. domestic ryegrass and 20 lbs. tall fescue per acre on well-drained clayey soils, or 10 lbs. smooth brome grass and 10 lbs. tall fescue per acre on wet clayey soils. On light soils, a good mix may be 15 lbs. creeping red fescue and 5 lbs. domestic ryegrass per acre.

After seeding, it is a good idea to run over the area with a spike-tooth drag or cultipacker. Spread one or two tons of a straw mulch over the waterway after seeding if there is a danger of excessive washing.

"Holmes' Resignation Forced by Complaint."

We certainly are splitting hairs, arent we, citizens?

Does this ruling mean that a person who sells liquor is automatically an undesirable character or of poor integrity?

So, observe, future aspirants to the office of mayor of Tecumseh, it is OK to guzzle booze, just don't sell it as part of your living.

We'll never know what kind of mayor Bill Holmes might have been (I think he would have been good) but, the few days he held office he did give it a large measure of "Style" and "Class".

Sincerely,
Martha Baldwin.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Thursday, May 21, 1970, the Ann Arbor News carried an article on the front page that Governor William Milliken is attempting to change the classification of marijuana from a narcotic, to a dangerous drug. The Mental Health Department and the Medical Associations have printed material in every dental and medical office stating that marijuana is the stepping stone to hard drug use. This bill is introduced by Rep. Warner of Eaton Rapids and should be protested by everyone by writing directly to the governor and to all of the representatives.

Whenever regulations are relaxed, trouble ensues, and the cost of the complications is excessive. Permissiveness on the campuses of this state is costing the taxpayers thousands of dollars, and now they are trying to further reduce the morality and health of our youth, and on the other hand are asking for money to set up drug clinics.

Let's have some reform and back the police of Michigan with letters protesting this reclassification.

Yours truly,
E. M. Johnson
(Mrs. Paul)

JIM WAS GRADUATED TODAY

Mary and I sat on the bleachers overlooking the high school athletic field and watched him march in with his class. A bird glided overhead, and, from far off, a dog's bark and children's voices mingled on the evening air. Behind circling hills, blue mountains made a stately backdrop.

Jim avoided our glance, the habitual grin he's worn since babyhood stilled for a moment in a gaze of earnest solemnity. His first big milestone had come, and I smiled to myself remembering his eagerness to embark upon the "world of tomorrow."

I have no fears for his future . . . for Jim is a Christian. What a wonderful assurance it is to his mother and me to know that wherever he goes, whatever happens in that wonderful "world" ahead, the values and principles he has been taught will be there to guide and sustain him.

How grateful we are to our church for the guidance and encouragement it has given us in the Christian education of our son.

Bank Buys Bailey Olds Site, Adding Third Branch Office

Another expansion of United Savings Bank of Tecumseh moved closer to reality this week when bank officials announced the purchase of the Keith Bailey Oldsmobile property on W. Chicago Blvd. at Occidental.

The site, stretching 147 feet along W. Chicago and 238 feet on S. Occidental Rd., has long been studied by the bank here for its third branch office. Construction will start within the next year and upon completion, the new office will mark the third expansion by the local bank in just over five years.

United Savings opened its Sutton Rd. Branch in October, 1965, and in May, 1967, the Herrick Park branch started business. Prior to the beginning of construction next year, approval will be sought from the Financial Institute Bureau of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

J. W. "Pat" Meadows, bank board chairman and chief executive officer, says the bank needs more operating space, pointing out that Herrick Park is already near capacity and that conditions in the downtown's main office is often crowded and congested.

How the new branch will be located on the site and its architectural design have yet to be determined.

Mr. Bailey, auto dealer, says the agency will either rent or buy for its new quarters. He says several sites are being investigated.

Under the purchase agreement, Bailey Oldsmobile has one year before it must vacate the property.

SOME DID, SOME DIDN'T — Those who came prepared for rain Sunday afternoon at THS graduation exercises were fortunate. Those who forgot their umbrellas simply got wet. It sprinkled off and on throughout most of the program, but most folks stayed, umbrellas or not.

REV. ALVIN BRAZEE

Services Are Held for Rev. Brazee

Services were held Saturday at Friends Church for the Rev. Alvin Brazee, longtime teacher and minister of this area.

Death occurred at 5:50 p.m. Wednesday at Herrick Memorial Hospital. He had been in failing health for two years and only returned from his Florida home June 7.

The pastor was 82 years old, retiring approximately 12 years ago from the United Iron Creek Church where he had served for 35 years.

Born July 9, 1887, in Tecumseh, he married Helen Smith Aug. 13, 1916, who survives.

He was graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1908, attended Kalamazoo College and was graduated from Ypsilanti Normal College. He taught school in Tecumseh and the surrounding area for nearly 35 years.

In 1910 he went to Chinook, Montana, for his health, returning to Tecumseh in 1920.

He was a member of Wit and Wisdom Club and a life member of Michigan Education Association. Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Emmett (Virgina) Noggle of

Rescinding Beer, Wine Ordinance

Council voted Monday night to rescind an ordinance now in effect which prevents taverns and restaurants with beer and wine licenses from opening on Sundays.

Delbert King, one of three owners of the new Cedar Shack restaurant which also sells beer and wine, told Councilmen that he had recently discovered that the restaurant's opening on Sundays was illegal via city ordinance.

He also told officials, however, that if the restaurant had a liquor license, it would be within the law to open Sundays.

Council told him, Duane Bihlmyer and Richard Ford, owners and all present at the meeting, that the ordinance would be rescinded at the July 6 session of Council.

Cool Reception for 'Dare's' Pitch

Dare To Be Great, Inc., received a cool reception at Council Monday night when officials listened to a pitch from the firm's representative about selling its program — eventual cost of $1,500 — to Tecumseh residents.

City officials asked the city attorney and police chief to conduct an investigation of the company, one reportedly under indictments in other communities and states.

Earn-A-Bike Starts

The Herald's popular Earn-A-Bike subscription campaign will start next Monday for Tecumseh and area boys and girls.

Two years ago The Herald awarded 30 bicycles to youngsters who sold the required number to win. At that time most of the bikes were won by boys and girls who started early in the drive.

Additional information about the campaign is available on page eight of this section, or at the newspaper office.

Subscription drive ends July 10, with bikes and watches to be awarded on Saturday, July 11.

Council Approves $15,000 Curb, Gutter Project

A few residents asked questions of Council Monday night about a curb and gutter program, but none really protested the $15,000 project.

Streets involved include portions of Maple, Wyandotte, Division and S. Maumee.

'Drippy' Seniors Are Graduated

Tecumseh's 104th commencement exercises will always be remembered as a drippy one by the class of 1970.

Sunday's graduation exercises for 208 seniors started at 3:30 on the school's athletic field. Dark clouds moved in and moments later, the sprinkles came. Before the program was over, those without umbrellas were pretty wet.

Sharing the highlight with the presentation of diplomas and the address by the Rev. Alfred Sheley, pastor of the Church of God, was the announcement of scholarship winners by Neville Hart, principal.

Monetary and honorary scholarships from the Michigan Department of Education went to Thomas Adams, Lorrie Beevers, Betsey Bock, John Frayer, Gary Harper, Charles Holmes, Michael House, Dianna Joachim, Michael Kennedy, Donald McVay, Tracy Mengerink, Kathleen Rohweder, Elizabeth Schneider, Brenda Van Gorder and Michael Wilkin.

Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Health Center scholarships—Denise Criss and Deborah Shelton.

Kalamazoo College scholarship—Paul Hamilton.

Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary's Judy Fielder Memorial—Katherine Lowe.

Tecumseh Education Association and Lois D. Service Future Teacher's Club—Donna Osburn and Jo Ann Baugh.

Eastern Michigan University—Karry De Fore.

Tecumseh Kiwanis Club—Judith Packard.

University of Chicago—Lee Dollison.

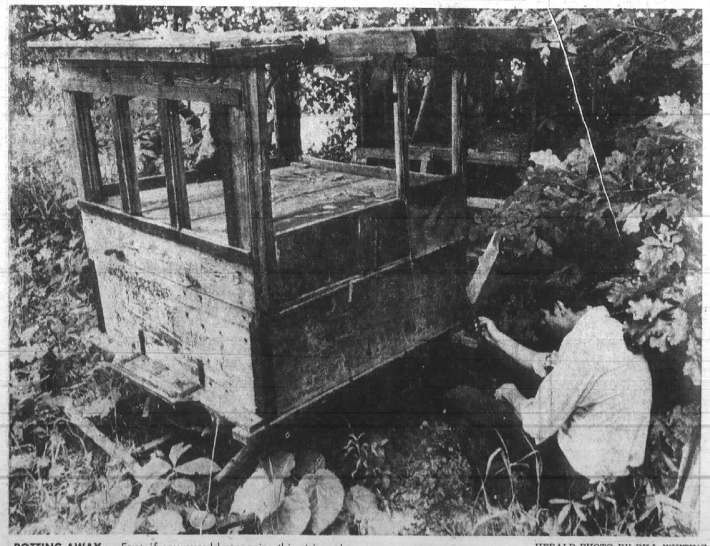
Tuition grant from Michigan Department of Education—Kathryn Baugh.

The H. R. Terryberry Co. of Grand Rapids presented a permanent trophy for the names of each class valedictorian and salutatorian and also individual trophies. Scholarship keys from the company went to 30 seniors who averaged B or better.

Lee Dollison, valedictorian, and Betsey Bock, salutatorian, were each given pen and pencil sets from Hall Slater Post, No. 4187, VFW.

Both Mr. Hart and Supt. James McDowell say it would have been practically impossible to move the exercises into the gym after the rain started. Sunday had been a pleasant, sunny day until shortly before the program started.

SENIOR PROCESSIONAL — Sunny weather prevailed for the Class of 1970 as these seniors paraded to their seats before the stands. Moments later the first sprinkles came. Officials say lack of chairs in the gym prevented them from moving the exercises indoors. Diplomas were awarded to 208.



ROTTING AWAY — Few, if any, would recognize this stripped down wagon now rotting away in the bushes far behind Frontier City. It was familiar on our streets just a few years ago, carting groceries and other deliveries about town for local merchants. This photo shows the remains of Ernie Van Vleet's delivery wagon, being inspected by Darrell Royalty. Frontier City stripped all useable parts before discarding it. Dorothy Grigg learned about its location, and Bill Whiting snapped the picture.

TEA Protests Board's Renewal of Millage

A letter from the president of the Tecumseh Education Association was read at the School Board meeting Monday night, and the message conveyed one of dissatisfaction with the Board's decision to seek renewal of the schools' 14 mills at the June 8 election.

The Board and the negotiating team of the TEA have failed to reach an agreement on salaries, and a group of teachers attended the May session when officials decided on a renewal instead of an increase in millage.

No information has been released about the negotiations, which will probably resume early in July and after the amount of state aid to the local schools has been determined.

Two school districts, Blissfield and Adrian, have settled their salaries for the 1970-71 term with Blissfield reaching a $7,400 salary base and Adrian, $7,350. Tecumseh's present base is $7,000.

Letter to the Board from William M. Raeburn, TEA president, is:

"The Tecumseh Education Association wishes to express its regret over the Board's action in requesting only fourteen mills in the next election. We feel that the amount selected will not be adequate to meet the needs of education in the district for the coming year. The increases in budget due to inflation and cost of living should make it obvious that the present millage will not handle these costs and a reasonable increase in salary for all employees.

"Some teachers have said that the millage is so inadequate that they feel they can't support it. The T.E.A. will not support these individuals and officially will remain neutral in this matter. The teachers are disappointed in the fact that the Board has decided to gamble with the children's education on the relatively slim chance that the state legislature might decide to increase state aid."

18 Attend First Session of New Band

Eighteen persons demonstrated their interest in participating in a summer band by attending an organizational meeting arranged by the Recreation Department Tuesday night.

First practice will be held Tuesday, June 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center for one and one-half hours. Practices will probably be once a week.

Mrs. Elwood Bush is directing the band and Don Johnson, band director at Tecumseh High School, is serving as advisor.

"I don't believe you remember me but I was one of your kindergartners once," said the tall, robust manager of Prehistoric Forest to Mrs. George Heimerdinger as she brought Clinton little people for tours Monday and Tuesday. The wide grin and brown eyes of Mary Grigg were still there but the physique has changed considerably from the days when kindergarten was held in the basement of the present Junior High School.

Grandma-sitting wanted. Now that's a new one. In the Manchester Enterprise, a classified ad appeared with this heading stating that Mrs. Courtright would like to stay with elderly or invalid persons while their relatives relaxed their vigil. What a tremendous idea. Wonder if Tecumseh has anyone interested in this type of work?

There's a set of several keys in a case with no identification, which was found by Raul Sanchez, Wednesday on Chicago Blvd., at Adrian St. There's GM car keys and others. Ask at The Herald.

It's not surprising when Dr. Robert Murray, D.D.S., is cast in the role of a dentist, Dr. Julian Winston, in the comedy "Cactus Flower" to be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Clark Lake by Clark Lake Players. You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

One of our gals, Mrs. Adam Sturk, formerly Ann Barton of Tecumseh, needs some help to help the family of a little friend of her young son, so she came back home from Wamplers Lake to find it. Let's not let her down.

Seems Eddie Joe White of Brooklyn, seven years old, is fighting a losing battle against cancer at C. S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor. He comes from a family of seven who need food, clothing, etc.

Ann has been providing sympathetic assistance in the way of transportation, food and a dainty shoulder but she could use some support.

Presbyterian Church secretary Peg Beagle said that anyone who has donations or money for the family could leave them at that office any morning, Monday - Friday. Jackie and Jimmy, 11-year-old twins, wear size 12 pants, slim, 10 shirt and 9½ socks. Carlene wears a ten dress and 9 socks, while baby Cindy wears about 1½. Mom is size 16.

Ann's Cub Scouts are going to say "Hi" to little Eddie on television over Lansing's Channel 6 Thursday morning. He wanted so to be a scout and so did his brothers, but $1 registration just wasn't forthcoming.

√

David Frownfelder left Monday for Cedar Point where he has taken a summer job with a concession company. He plans to go to Career Academy, Columbus, O., in the fall to study radio and television broadcasting. David and Bill Puffer are planning to go together. √

Mrs. Perry Hayden was in Lansing last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woodward. The Woodward family left Saturday for San Jose, Calif., where he has a scholarship to study mathematics at the university for the summer.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Swipe Unnecessary

Detroit's "friendly" took a swipe at Tecumseh High School's principal Tuesday morning, and clearly showed that its question-answer column belongs on the entertainment page, not on the first.

First, the "friendly" meddled with a rule which has stood here for 19 years: seniors wishing to participate in commencement exercises are expected to attend rehearsal. Two seniors didn't attend, and they were affected by the rule. It did not mean that they would not graduate.

This rule has been deemed necessary by Principal Neville Hart for proper organization of the ceremonies and presentation of diplomas. Seniors are aware of the rule.

Second, the "friendly" didn't even bother to contact the principal, or to learn the other side, apparently.

About the only conclusion one can draw is that our "friendly newspaper" wants to impress its readers with its power and to entertain them.

The only good that the Action Line swipe created is the question of whether Tecumseh's rule about rehearsal and participation in commencement exercises needs further study.

If the rule is good and necessary, the schools should retain it. It's a decision to be made here.

Record Set at Manchester

By Nancy Martin

"Lady Luck" was smiling down on Manchester Speedway Friday night, with hard rains all around, there was not a drop here. The track was in excellent condition and the top five qualifiers were in the 18 second bracket.

Last year the track record was in the 19's, and just three weeks ago was broken down to 18.78. Curt Kelly, the second one out to qualify zoomed around the track at 18.49, setting a new record. Looks like a good year for breaking records.

In the Sportsman Modified class Louie J. Stemen worked his way up to take the lead on the seventh lap of the first heat for the win over Dick Slade. Fred Saltenright and Curt Kelly. The second heat was a see-saw battle between Butch Moull and Howard Woodman, with Jim Bissell slipping between them at the finish line. It was Moull, Bissell, Woodman and Den Mastey.

The caution flag was out in the third as Doug Harvey did a little bouncing on the front stretch, but stayed on all fours, and ended up in the mud against the front retainer wall. The winner was Bob Hoskins over Gary Rhoades, John Weinhardt and Jim Slade. Jerry Evilsizer came from the back to the front, in the fourth heat to take the checker, followed by Gene Gilbert, Bob Clemons and Ron Pittman.

The Pursuit was a wild one. With four cars left in the fifth lap, three spun on the back stretch hailing the red flag. After the restart, Louie J. stayed just ahead of Kelly for the win, Farmer Budwitt was 3rd, Saltenright 4th.

In the Semi, Ron Pittman tried to join the cars on the parking ramp, by climbing the hill the hard way. After several caution flags and spin-outs, Jim Stevens was first across the line followed closely by Paul Whitaker, Rhoades, Dick Beazley and Floyd Dillion.

The 25 lap Feature saw almost as many yellow flags as it did green. Dick Slade had a good lead, but Kelly caught and passed him on lap 15 and held on to take the win over Louie J., Slade, Bissell and Ray Barnard.

In the Stockers it was Skip Haskett's night again. He took up where he left off last week as he was fastest qualifier, won the heat race over Harold Burnham, Harold Heisler and Paul McNamara.

The pursuit lasted exactly three laps as several cars spun, and Haskett came down the front stretch all alone for the win over Dale Moor, Burnham and McNamara. The Feature was Haskett, followed by Bob Heitzel, Dale Brenner and McNamara.

We have several cars signed up for our Destruction Derby Friday night, and many more expected.

WHERE THE SUN IS WORSHIPED, THE LAWS OF HEAT WILL GO UNEXAMINED. — Anonymous English statesman

● STONE-AGE MAN built temples to the sun. The temple of today's sun worshiper is his tan.

But there's a sand flea in the suntan lotion. The beneficial effects of the sun are almost nil and you should consider the adverse effects before joining the sun cult this summer.

Almost everyone experiences a feeling of well-being when warmed gently by the raw sun, but excessive exposure can prematurely age the skin and cause skin cancer.

If you insist on getting a tan, however, there are several safety measures you can take.

Human skins, of course, vary greatly in the amount of sun they can tolerate. Dark - skinned individuals generally have more immunity to sunburn than the fair-skinned.

For most persons with light skin, the first exposure early in the season should not exceed 15 to 20 minutes for each side — front and back. If you begin tanning later in the season, the length of the first exposure should be even shorter. You can increase the exposure by about one-third each day.

Rays are reflected from sand and water — which means that you can burn while sitting under an umbrella. You can burn on a hazy day, too.

Suntan preparations are of varying value. Most suntan lotions contain chemicals called sunscreens, which absorb burning ultraviolet rays of sunlight to varying degrees. The better lotions allow you to stay in the sun longer. They do not shut out all the radiation, for then you would never tan.

Among the most effective sun-screens are paraminobenzoic acid and its derivatives, the salicylates, and newer, benzophenone compounds.

Read the label before purchasing a suntan product; the sunscreen ingredient usually is listed.

Remember that suntan products must be reapplied at least every two hours after each swim.

Skin care following sunbathing is important to prevent excessive drying. Apply an emollient lotion or cream to the skin after bathing and before retiring.

If you get a sunburn in spite of precautions, apply a soothing lotion or ointment such as cold cream or baby oil, or wet compresses to relieve the pain.

A word of caution about use of commercial sunburn preparations: These products contain ingredients that may cause allergic skin reactions.

If the pain is excessive or if extensive blistering is present, consult a physician.

MRS. WALLACE B. WHITING

School Days End for Ruth

Twenty-eight years ago, Mrs. Wallace B. Whiting started teaching in a little red brick schoolhouse in — would you believe — Podunk, just north of Dexter. Friday, her school days came to a happy end at Patterson School after 23 years in the Tecumseh School system.

When she started out in rural schools in the Chelsea area, her classrooms had a pot-bellied stove for heat and her students ranged from the first through the eighth grades. In 1943 she moved with her family to Tecumseh and began teaching three years later at the old Central School, now the Junior High.

Mrs. Whiting received her BS degree from Eastern Michigan in 1956 after attending night school. She well-known teacher taught at Tecumseh Acres and Patterson in addition to the Central assignment and worked with grades 3-6. She also recalled spending two years in the basement of the old library when things got tight.

Last week, her school kids at Patterson threw a surprise party in her honor where she was presented with a punch bowl from her sixth graders. She also received gifts from the school board, Tecumseh Education Association and the faculty at Patterson.

When asked about her retirement, she said, "It's all been worth it. I'm beginning to have children of students I've had years ago."

Mrs. Whiting thinks she will manage to keep busy somehow. "I'm looking forward to finishing that hooked rug I started last September."

The Whitings reside at 106 W. Pottawatamie with their son, Bill.

15 Alarms Are False at Faraday

Fifteen false fire alarms in approximately a one year period is the record established by a delicate alarm system at Faraday.

The last alarm occurred at 12:10 Saturday morning. The system, turned into the local fire station, has created some concern by both plant officials and Tecumseh firemen.

Out of the 15 false alarms, firemen have made nine actual runs to the S. Maumee industry. Six alarms occurred during the daytime, and firemen checked first with plant officials and found the alarms false.

At the rate of 15-man hours per call and $3 per man, the nine runs have cost the city $450. Figuring at the rate of $300 per call charged by townships by the city, the cost would be $2,700.

Happiness Is Apron and Ink

By TOM RIORDAN

(Reprinted from Jackson Citizen Patriot, Sunday, June 7, 1970)

For 90 minutes on Wednesday, I turned back the hands of time.

There I was, happily wearing my printer's apron, wielding a makeup rule and line guage, shoving type into place for the current edition of The Tecumseh Herald.

That's a weekly newspaper — no, not just "a weekly," but about the best one in the whole state of Michigan—where I spent 10 wonderful years.

Wednesday is press day at The Herald, the time literally to put together the stories and pictures with the ads, which are all supposed to be in place by Tuesday night.

Each press day, my partner, Jim Lincoln, and I were printers. And it was sure fun.

Rugged, too. Like a 10- to 12-hour day.

But to me, actually being able to build the pages from scratch, put the lines of type in place, set the headlines, place the photos — was always a delight.

★

WELL, I WAS in Tecumseh Wednesday and had 90 minutes to kill, so naturally I dropped in The Herald for some conversation and a cup of coffee.

The gals in the front office greeted me and as I chatted and made my way toward the office coffee pot, out of the back shop came Jim after hearing my voice.

"Hey, how come you're all dressed up? Lonal (Bishop, the shop foreman) is on vacation this week and we're running a little behind schedule. Boy, we sure could use you."

Jim was half-kidding.

But I wasn't when I peeled off my suit jacket and called over my shoulder to the women's editor, Mrs. Lyle Grigg: "Hey, Dorothy, get me an apron."

She bounded into the other room and was back in a jiffy with one of those printer's aprons, which has the big pocket in front. Jim shuffled through a stack of stuff on his desk, withdrew a shiny item and announced, "Here's a makeup rule."

Going to work once more in front of that long makeup stone, brought back fond memories of my weekly days.

Those 90 minutes sped by. My fingers were that now nearly forgotten printers-ink-ebony again — and I could have cared less. Lava soap still does wonders when washup time comes.

★

WHILE ON this weekly nostalgia kick, how about an experigence from way back in 1950, when I was editor and publisher of the Greenwich (O.) Enterprise-Review, circulation: A lusty 1,200.

My wife and I ran the place and we had one printer.

But I often found myself doing a lot of odd chores like running the linotype, casting advertising mats, operating hand-fed job press.

Well, the printer got real sick and I found myself doing all the mechanical chores.

Wouldn't you know, that would be the week the linotype just froze up in the middle of its cycle.

I was desperate.

Then I remembered something the former owner had told me: "If you have any machine troubles, get Paul Barnes to help you."

At the time, I mused to myself, that's pretty quaint thinking. Paul is an auto mechanic and what would be know about printing equipment?

Later I was to learn Paul was a fellow who loved living in a small town and tinkering with cars. He was a Navy Reserve lieutenant-commander and an expert on jet aircraft engines.

But I thought of Barney only as a nice guy, hardly one to help me out. However, I was near despair and so I did call him.

★

BARNEY SAUNTERED over to the shop.

When I explained about the stoppage, he sort of eyed the linotype, then walked around to the back of it. Extracting an open-end wrench from his hip pocket, Paul slipped off a nut, which loosened a long rod that carried a spring along its outside. Off come the spring in 15 pieces.

"There's your problem," announced Paul.

With that he placed the battered pieces on the makeup stone and walked out of the shop.

My head spun.

Now what? The nearest linotype parts outlet was in Cleveland, 66 miles away.

As the tears seemed to well up in my baby blue eyes, Paul returned. And he carried a brand new spring.

Without a word, he slipped it onto the rod, replaced the bolt and ordered me to flip the linotype's clutch.

"Purrrr," the old machine said as it smoothly rolled into action.

"Barney, where in the world did you get that spring?" I gasped happily.

"Over at Troxel Farm Supply."

Barney's face broke into a broad grin when he announced, "It's a spring from a manure spreader."

So help me, it was.

A CHANCE TO CHOOSE

When this column made its first appearance in The Herald on April 9, I called for a formal declaration of war in Vietnam from Congress.

That plea was prompted by two events which were related in the column. One was a student, Charles Muncaster, who has refused induction into the Armed Services until a formal declaration of war is made.

The second event was the signing of a bill by Massachusetts Governor Francis Sargent which said no citizen of that state should have to fight in any war which has not been declared by Congress.

Since that time, several other items have come to my attention which are also attempting to have a formal declaration made.

The first is the widely publicized Amendment to End the War which has been introduced in the United States Senate by Senators McGovern, Hatfield, Goodell, Cranston and Hughes. Goodell and Cranston are Republicans, the other senators are Democrats.

This amendment, number 609, has several far-reaching effects and sets definite dates for termination of U. S. intervention in Vietnam.

If passed, the Senate amendment will be attached to the military procurement authorization bill and would provide the following, unless a formal declaration of war is made by Congress:

1—No more money will be alloted for the war in Cambodia 30 days from the date which the bill is enacted.

2—No more money for the war in Vietnam after Dec. 31, 1970, other than for the costs of withdrawal.

3—No U. S. forces in Vietnam after June 30, 1971.

4—Arrangements be made for "asylum in friendly countries for Vietnamese who might be physically endangered by the withdrawal of U. S. forces."

A similar measure has been introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives, titled House Resolution 100, by two Republicans, Donald Riegle of Michigan and Peter McCloskey of California.

In that previous column, I asked that you take a few minutes to write your Congressman and demand that an official position be taken, either a formal declaration of war, or initiate steps to end it.

A bill has now been introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives which demands your attention and some very careful thought.

Introduced by Rep. Jackie Vaughn, House Hill 4710 follows the precedent set by Massachusetts and would allow Michigan draftees to refuse servce in Vietnam unless war is declared.

Note that although this bill would allow draftees the right to refuse fighting in Vietnam, it does not provide an easy method of completely avoiding the Army.

They still must go into the Army if drafted, but they can decide themselves if they want to go to Vietnam. That's the key to the bill, the right to decide to go or not.

I have mentioned which political parties the men who have introduced these three bills are affiliated with only to point out that this movement is not the work of just one party, but is instead, bi-partisan. Members of both political parties are joining together in a concerted effort to initiate action.

This bill demands your attention and expression of your opinion. Don't let it becvome trapped in the log jam of bills in the House and slip from public attention. Public awareness and pressure will help to keep the bill moving and not becoming bogged down in political rhetoric.

Congress and President Nixon, apparently are not about to issue a formal declaration of war. House Bill 4710 will give draftees an opportunity to declare their position.

Young men now who refuse to go to Vietnam are sent to prison. Is this right? If you don't think so, here's a chance to say it. Write your representatives and let them know that this bill has support.

Your son can go to Vietnam, but he can't influence the lawmakers because he can't vote. Only you, the parents can do that.

So write your representatives and express your opinion of this bill. Do it today, do it for your son.

Do you take your furniture polish with, or without?

You say you don't drink furniture polish? Well then, why do you include it when figuring your weekly "grocery" bills? Come on, admit it. We all do it. Checking out at the supermarket, we think: "Wow! I used to get 4 bags of groceries for half that!" Yes, you did. But, years ago, those bags held groceries. Today, you're buying more and more non-food items with your food. Things like pots and pans, charcoal; even fertilizer and encyclopedias are now sold in supermarkets.

Sure, inflation has forced food prices up; but, not as much as other things. From 1958 to 1968, food went up 16% while clothing was up 20%, housing 27%, medical 45%. Since 1950, farm output per man has increased 6% annually compared to 2.5% for all other industries. Americans spend only about 16.5% of income on food; the lowest in history and about half of any other country in the world! It's all due to the amazing efficiency of the American Farmer, implementing the modern farming methods encouraged and practiced by members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

So, next time you check your food bill, please just count the food items. Then count your blessings.

CLINTON — Gary Krauss is the new owner of Dairy Delight, formerly Lee's Farm Pantry, W. Michigan Ave.

He purchased the business three weeks ago from Lee Robison, Saline, who had operated the business for many years.

Mr. Krauss, 29, his wife, Dianna, and three children, Michael, 6, Donald, 5, and Allison 1½, are presently at Wayne but plan to move to a home on Shallenberger Rd., near Manchester soon.

Mr. Krauss was born and raised in Michigan and has operated a restaurant in N. Hollywood, Calif., for nine years.

He admits to a nominal interest in the movie industry — having played as an extra in a couple of films.

Fleming Retires From Counseling

CLINTON — Joseph Fleming retired last week as a counselor in the Dearborn Public Schools, where he has been a member of the faculty since 1936.

In the earlier years he was an athletic coach and was a counselor for the past 15 years. He was athletic coach at Clinton High School from 1929 until 1936.

Mr. Fleming was entertained at a round of parties last week in Dearborn and was presented with many gifts from the faculty and friends.

For the past two years Mr. Fleming has been commuting from Clinton, while he and his wife, Minota, stayed with her sister, Lois Lancaster, during the building of their retirement home at Elk Rapids.

The Flemings moved over the weekend to their new home.

Through My Window

LORD BALTIMORE ORIOLE, TEACHER

Handsome Lord Baltimore Oriole must have been eavesdropping. Several times early this spring the conversation worked itself around to weather, birds and picture-taking. Not an unusual trio for us to be chit-chatting about, I may add. But anyway I was bemoaning the fact that, although spring is my favorite time of year, it is also slightly frustrating.

There are so many exciting picture-taking possibilities but most of the action takes place away from the bird feeder and, of course, I am only equipped to snap the shutter on what is happening there. I really wasn't complaining though, nor certainly not feeling sorry for myself. Lord Baltimore, however, must have thought differently.

Stop right there, Marda. You know you cannot attribute human characteristics and motivations to birds. But recognizing this, may I continue with my tale of the oriole's actions? And won't you agree that, had a genius thought long and hard, a better put-down or a more perfect squelch he could not have devised.

Several weeks after one of the above discussions, we were blessed with the most perfect of spring days. The weather was warm, the sun bright, the sky blue, and the air magically clear and sparkling. Auntie and Rog were out for the day and it seemed that every fourth topic of conversation dealt with what a gorgeous Sunday it was and how beautifully bright was the sunshine. The action on the bird feeder was nonstop. A few freeloaders dropped in to sample the bill-of-fare but the action was all very fun of the mill.

VERY RUN OF the mill until all of us, practically in unison, exclaimed and caught our breath in amazement. From behind the green curtain of maple leaves, a brilliant orange and black streak swooped down to the back edge of the near-my-window feeding tray. None of us could believe our eyes. It was Lord Baltimore Oriole.

Standing in the middle of the back rail, it was almost as though he had taken dead aim and landed in the exact center of the camera's "field of vision". Perfect positioning. Sunlight flooded the scene and oh, how brilliant were his colors — satiny black, flaming orange and delicate but at the same time bold white streaks and bars on his wings. Perfect lighting.

As we watched, spellbound with pleasure, he turned first to the left then to the right. He then showed us his resplendent front side and then his breath-taking back. He even fanned his tail slightly so that we would be sure to notice the orange markings at its sides. Perfect posing.

★

NOTHING WAS lacking to make this one of those dreamed for picture-taking sessions and what camera nut would not be thrilled to the eyebrows at the chance to collect close-up shots of the most gorgeous Lord Baltimore Oriole that there ever was! There were four, six, possibly even eight pictures. Wow! Just one trifling admission must be made, a slight amendment must be added to the first sentence in this paragraph. There was one measly little thing lacking.

THE CAMERA WAS NOT TURNED ON AND THE SWITCH WAS NOT PINNED TO MY BED.

When finally the Lord left, it was not even necessary for him to laugh. His point came through loud and clear—I, who had been complaining about pictures I could not take, had goofed royally. A one in a million chance had presented itself and I could not take advantage of it.

Instead of bemoaning what I could not do — well, do you see what I mean by a perfect put-down?

Since then both Lord and Lady Baltimore have spent much time in the area. Even when we don't see them, there is that lovely and lilting serenading to hear.

His whistle is especially bubbly and liquid clear. But, never once since that fateful Sunday have I had an oriole on the near-my-window feeder. Believe me, though, if one should perchance drop by again, I am ready!

And so it is that with arm cramped from being held on the camera switch, I again ask if you do not agree with me about the professional excellence of Lord Baltimore Oriole, teacher!

NEXT WEEK:
"Lady Baltimore Oriole, Weaver."

3 in Primary Race for Commissioner

A race has developed here in the Sixth District for county commissioner at the August 4 primary.

Three Republicans have filed in the district with the winner opposing Kenneth Crause, Democrat, in the November election. Mr. Crause, local attorney, is associated with Joseph Conklin and works out of the professional building next to the Sutton Rd. branch of the United Savings Bank.

SUE BEARDSLEY FROM COURT TO COOK

Fay Whelan, present Republican incumbent, is facing opposition from Harold Easton and Royal Welch.

Mr. Welch, former city councilman and member of several other organizations, is owner and operator of Welch Cleaners.

Mr. Easton, 10 years a mayor of Tecumseh and former councilman, operates Easton's Friendly Service Station.

Mr. Whelan was elected to a county commissioner post two years ago. He heads the Hoyt Whelan Implement Co.

The Sixth District lies north of W. Chicago Blvd. and E. Logan St. Area south of these lines is the Seventh District.

Although this will be the only race at the primary, other races have developed for November.

Richard Purkey, of Lee Purkey & Sons Garage, has filed as a Democrat in the 7th District and will oppose Terrence J. Wagner, Republican, incumbent.

William Mackey, incumbent and Republican from Raisin Township, will be opposed in the fall by Leonard Harsh, Democrat. The winner will represent both Raisin and Tecumseh Townships.

M. M. Halley, Republican incumbent, is unopposed for representing Clinton and Clinton and Macon Townships.

Ronald Brown, Republican, Onsted, and incumbent, is unopposed as county commissioner for Franklin and Cambridge Township.

In the Ninth District for Ridgeway and Deerfield Townships, Stacey Zilkie, Republican, is unopposed.

Another contest bound to catch a lot of attention is for State Representative.

John W. Mowat, Jr., has filed to oppose Robert Stites at the August primary on the Republican ticket. The winner will face Ernest Oliver, Tecumseh businessman, who has placed his name in the ring on the Democrat side.

Rain Ruins Dawn Patrol for Exchange

For 17 years the sun shone brightly over the Exchange Club Dawn Patrol. But this year the rains came and dampened things up a bit.

Exchangeites served some 407 breakfasts to townsfolks who braved the disagreeable weather Sunday morning at Meyer's Airport. This was about 40% of the usual high of a thousand.

Though it rained nearly all morning, club members had high spirits and managed to break even on their annual event. "We might even make five dollars," quipped President George Chaske.

About 35 airplanes from other Michigan areas flew in through the low cloud cover to attend.

Forest Abner expressed the group's appreciation to all the local families who came to help out. "It means a lot to us," he said.

Gregory Fanslau, Nena Murphy, Jill Greenfield, Jeff Ely, Robbie Littrell, Gerald Johnston, Tim Deming, Janet Blaser and Valerie Ann Egli.

All of these boys and girls signed up Monday, most of them in the morning for an early start.

Shut Off Water for New Valves

If your water is a little rusty this Thursday, don't be alarmed.

The Departmentof Public Utilities will be cutting a new valve for the water main at the corner of Chicago Blvd. and Maumee St., and in order to do this, the flow of the water has to be reversed, which will cause the water to be stirred up.

Seven valves must be shut off to cut the new valve. Residents from Shawnee to Chicago Blvd. and one block east along Chicago will be without water for approximately four hours.

The Department will be conducting a valve turning program throughout the summer to replace worn valves.

City Hall Mail

Flooding of the boiler room at the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool forced the cancellation of all swim classes Tuesday.

Classes will be made up at the same times Saturday morning.

Susan Beardsley Is First at 'State'

Susan Beardsley is the first Tecumseh girl to be elected to a state office at Girls' State activities. It was held this year on the EMU campus for the first time.

Susan, an alternate for Cynthia Steadley, at the mock governmental activities directed by the American Legion Auxiliary presided with two other "supreme court justices" at a mock trial.

She was thrilled on Thursday evening when Perry Satterthwaite was introduced as a close family friend in the stead of her parents who had suddenly decided to go to Chicago.

Others who attended that evening's festivities were Mrs. Franklin Bock whose daughter, Barbara, was elected to the "House of Representatives," Glenn Driscoll and Mrs. John Snyder, local chairman for the program.

Lee Ann Schneider was elected a "county coroner."

Miss Beardsley was sworn into office by a Washtenaw County circuit judge.

The girls were sponsored by the local Auxiliary unit of Underwood-Orr Post, American Legion. Tecumseh Products Co. and Business and Professional Women's Club.

Pony Contest for July 4th

A pony pull contest, sponsored by the Bits and Harness Pony Club, has been added to the festivities for Tecumseh Day, July 4.

The contest, involving three classes, 42-inch, 45-inch and 50-inch, will start in the afternoon at two o'clock at the athletic field.

Tecumseh merchants and businesses who contributed toward trophies and ribbons are Easton's Friendly Service, Powell Real Estate, Whelan Implement, Green's Clothing, Gambles, Osburn Real Estate, Holmes Pharmacy, Baldwin Hardware, Eggleston's Jewelry, Proctor Shoes, Porter Printing, Lawson TV, Harvey's Grill, Joe's Market, Ed's Standard Service, Beach Bros., Inc., and Des Armia's Furniture.

Accident Rate Drop Noted on Streets

After several weeks of high accident frequency on city streets, Tecumseh police investigated just three during the past week and cited two of the drivers.

A summary is:

June 19 — Charles H. Holmes, 18, of 812 River Acres Dr., was charged with failure to yield the right of way after running into Mary Lou Fairbanks, 41, of 207 Burt St., at the intersection of S. Ottawa and E. Chicago Blvd. She suffered minor injuries and sought treatment.

June 20 — Patricia F. Geissler, 6830 Green Hwy., backed into Thomas A. Gallant, 205 E. Kilbuck St., in the Kroger parking lot.

June 23 — Lydia W. Green, 74, of Green Hwy., was cited for failure to yield after colliding with Raymond C. Oliver, 25, of 858 S. Union, at the intersection of S. Evans and Pottawatamie.

Nine Bicycles Reported Stolen

Bicycle thefts here are averaging better than two a week with nine reported stolen at the Tecumseh Police Department earlier this week.

Murell Clark, chief, says all bikes were taken at either the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool or at Tecumseh Park.

Only one bike was registered and had a license from the city, as required by city statute.

10-Year-Old Is Hit, Killed at Ridgeway

Services were held Sunday afternoon at Niblack Home For Funerals for Kenneth L. Plank, Jr., who died of injuries he received in an accident June 18 when he walked into the path of a pickup truck on Ridge Hwy., while crossing the road to get worms for a baby robin.

Death occurred at St. Joseph Hospital about 2:15 p.m., where he was transferred from Herrick Memorial Hospital by sheriff's officers.

KENNETH PLANK

He was born Dec. 30, 1959, the son of Kenneth L. Plank, Sr., and Sylvia Ginn Plank, 5462 Ridge Hwy. He came with his family to this area 3½ years ago from Toledo, O.

He was a member of Cub Scout Pack No. 23 in Britton and the Sunday School of Grace United Methodist Church. He had just completed fourth grade at Ridgeway School.

Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters, Daphne, Donna and Brenda at home; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ries, of Britton and paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Sally Lair, of Adrian.

The Rev. Luren Strait and the Rev. R. A. Mitchinson officiated and burial was in Ridgeway Cemetery.

New Policy Is Adopted for Faraday

The 16th false alarm at Faraday, Inc., has resulted in a change in policy in responding to fire alarms there.

According to local firemen, no fire runs will be made there during the night until after Tecumseh police have first checked the building.

In the wee hours last Friday morning, Tecumseh firemen made their 10th run to the S. Maumee plant — all for naught. The sensitive alarm system had turned in other false alarm.

It has been a policy for some time that when the alarm goes off at the station during daytime, a phone call to the plant is made first before sounding the siren. This accounts for six alarms not being answered by trucks and men.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Bernie Sanchez and the Reasons Five, a local rock group, will donate their music for a Howard Hyder Benefit Dance, Tecumseh Day, July 4.

The teen dance will be staged on the tennis courts behind the Tecumseh Public Library from 2 to 6 p.m., weather permitting.

Mrs. Clark Nichols is chairman of the event, a project of the Jaycee Auxiliary.

Gremlins took over the typewriters again, like they are prone to do when one least suspects it. This time it happened in the Tipton items and Mrs. Harriet Gallant came out with a most peculiar handle, Mrs. Garriet Gallows. Those little guys should be smacked if one could only catch 'em. Anyway it was Grandma Gallant who made the book cake, decorated in class colors for Ronald Mukensturm.

Several had to be turned away for the Tecumseh alumni banquet much to the surprise and sorrow of the committee. Last year some 75 attended and those in charge this year hoped for 100. Registrations for 227 have been made. Committee members invite those unable to get tickets for the banquet to attend the punch hour at 7 and return for the brief meeting and program at 8:15 p.m. 'Tis true—the early bird gets.

Fifty voices of Monroe County Chorus will sing at the 10 a.m. service at St. Peter's Episcopal Church Sunday. Concert of sacred music is directed by Mrs. Helena Wiech of Dundee. The Rev. Frank Hawthorne, rector of St. Peter's extends an invitation to visitors to attend the service Sunday.

Tecumseh Acres School will have 14 fresh sparkling flags for Independence Day. They were all done up nice and clean by One Hour Martinizing, free of charge. They also cleaned the big one which is flown in front of the high school building. Better check your "Old Glory" and see if it needs a bath.

Lamb's-Rexall has been licensed in training undergraduate and graduate students in pharmacy under an internship type program. The pharmacy, which received the top rating from a state inspector, now has Jim Mitchell in the program, reports Carl Lamb, owner.

MRS. ERIC LONG

Linda Lask and Eric Long Are United in Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Long will live at 316 N. Maumee St. following their wedding trip through northern Michigan.

Linda Jean Lask and Eric Scott Long were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in a ceremony performed at First Baptist Church by the Rev. Blair Bashore.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lask, 610 Center Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. John Long, Jr., 107 N. Van Buren St.

The bride chose a floor length gown of organza and Alencon lace fashioned with sabrina neckline and camelot sleeves accented with seed pearls. A matching headpiece of lace petals and pearls secured the veil of illusion and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and daisies.

Kathy Lask, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in a gown of yellow silk organza over taffeta. She carried yellow daisies in a colonial bouquet.

Cindy Turnwald, Morenci, and Kathy Kris of Palmyra were the bridesmaids attired as the maid of honor.

Sylvia and Kristin Long, sisters of the groom, were the junior bridesmaid and flower girl, also dressed as the maid of honor.

Duaine Chandler was best man and the guests were seated by Phil Vershum, Ron Findley and Norm Schwedde. Nicky Westgate, the groom's nephew, was the ring bearer.

A reception for 250 guests in the Youth House was followed by a buffet supper for relatives at the bride's home.

Both young people are graduates of Tecumseh High School. Mr. Long attended Cleary College and is employed as a mechanic at Long Motor Sales.

Parents of the groom were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Country House.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Ernst, 702 Inner Dr., will move with their family to Lambertville July 3. He has accepted a position there in the office of Monroe County Drain Commission.

Barbara Drexler and Zirl Yek Marry

Barbara Jean Drexler, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hoagland, 20809 Tecumseh Rd., Britton, became the bride of Zirl Emil Yek Saturday at St. John Lutheran Church, Dundee.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Yek of Britton.

Double ring service was performed in candlelight by Pastor William Zimmerman.

Marilyn Burgard accompanied the soloist, Mrs. J. Dunn Knehne and Walter Strickland.

Bride was attired in a white empire gown of patterned nylon net over peau de soie featuring ruffles of dainty lace at the high neckline, on cuffs of the long bishop sleeves, around the bodice and long skirt of controlled fullness.

Satin ribbon bows were tied at the wrists and high waistline. The sheer ruffle trimmed mantilla cascaded to cathedral length from a headpiece of satin bows. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white sweetheart roses and daisies with a candle in the center.

Sallye Herndon, college roommate of the bride, was maid of honor and Kathleen Cheever and Mrs. Gordon Lewis, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids.

All attendants wore empire gowns of maize dotted swiss with lace ruffles on the bodice, high neckline and long sleeves. Maize satin ribbon encircled the waistline ending with a bow in front with long streamers.

Their headpieces were loops of sheer braid with tiny pearl clusters and short veils in matching colors. They carried a white candle with an arrangement of yellow sweetheart roses and daisies around it.

Wendy Strickland, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl attired in a dress like the other attendants. She carried a basket of yellow sweetheart roses and daisies.

Master Kahl Strickland, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer.

Gordon Lewis was best man and the guests were seated by Chuck Ziesemer, cousin of the groom, and Bruce Fagala.

Penny and Patty Bauer, cousins of the bride, registered the guests.

The bride, a graduate of Britton-Macon High School and Ferris State College, was employed as a dental assistant for Dr. M. J. Edwards in Adrian prior to her marriage.

The groom, a graduate of Mt. Clemens High School, is attending Michigan State University.

Following a trip to northern Michigan, they will live in East Lansing.

Pastor tell me

By DUANE H. McNEIL

ARE THERE ANIMALS IN HEAVEN?

Some pet lovers become so attached to their animals or bird friends that they ascribe Eternal life to them. My dog went to "doggie heaven" is not uncommon to hear.

The Scriptures tell us Heaven is prepared for people. Animals are not listed in the list of inhabitants in any place. In the book of revelation we read of horses in use by the Lord Jesus. There is no way of knowing if these are some that lived on Earth and died or not.

The Bible tells us clearly that there is life after death for man. Hebrews 9:17. Heaven or hell awaits acceptors and rejectors of God's Salvation. When we get to Heaven will you be there? See John 3:3.

HOW TO GET 13 MORE OF THESE 107'4" PRE-CAST BEAMS TO CLINTON HIGH SITE IS PROBLEM.

Route for Beams Is Puzzler

CLINTON — It's proving to be a puzzle in logistics to get the 107'4" pre-cast T-beams, weighing 38,000 lbs. each, from the manufacturer, American Pre-Stress Co., located at Ten-mile and Centerline Rds., west of Detroit to the site of the new Clinton High School. Add a 25-foot tractor rig and the problem gets even longer.

First, two beams were trucked on state highways, down US-12, but the State Highway Department has since ruled the remaining 13 beams must be trucked on less heavily traveled highways, possibly by way of M-50, through Tecumseh and M-52.

Another ruling calls for the rear end of the beams to be off-loaded by crane and carried around each corner it turns, then reloaded on the rear trailer section.

Dale Wallace, job superintendent for MacKinnon-Parker, Inc., said the big beams are expected to be placed on the gymnasium sometime this week or next.

Cactus Flower Draws Praise

By Maxine Calhoun

Light and lively, "Cactus Flower," two-act comedy by Abe Burrows, is a splendid vehicle for the talented Clark Lake Players' first presentation of the season at Eagle Point Playhouse.

Dr. Robert Murray, Tecumseh dentist, a veteran of Tecumseh Players productions was aptly cast as the dentist, Dr. Julian Winston, in the fast-paced comedy.

Nimble witted bachelor Dr. Winston is caught in a tangle of his own prevarications when he tells his girl friend, Toni Simmons, that he is married and has three children.

Toni is played by bouncy, blonde Shirley Thatcher, a senior at Kent State University, a drama major, appearing for the third summer at Clark Lake. She'll wed Director Richard J. Hossalla in July.

Adding spice to the plot is the dentist's nurse, cooly efficient Stephanie Dickinson, played by Mary Lou Blanchard. She reluctantly accepts the role as Dr. Winston's fictitious wife and in doing so her own romantic interest in him comes to light.

Toni's neighbor across the hall just happens to be Igor Sullivan, played by Blair J. McGowan, who opportunely pops in — clad only in a bath towel—offering his rugged, bare shoulder for Toni to sob on.

Lots of fun, snapper catch lines, and comic action that shifts rapidly through 15 scenes, provides a great evening's entertainment.

"Cactus Flower" runs three more nights this week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

"Patty cake, patty cake," said the pink angel and tiny Merry Grigg gave Grandpa a heart-melting smile as she spatted her dainty hands together showing off her newfound knowledge, learned especially for Father's Day.

It may be a trite comment but it's true that the "best things in life are free."

You can just bet that Pop will enjoy his new light and the other things but coming home from a big weekend to a cuddly granddaughter was just about tops for both of us. Hope all dads and grandads had such a wonderful experience.

Weekend Emergency

Many Lenawee County amateur radio operators will participate in a 24 hour nationwide test of emergency radio communications on Saturday, June 27, and Sunday, June 28.

This test takes the form of a contest which is called "Field Day." The final contest score is calculated from numerous factors and a winner declared at a later time.

The contest atmosphere conceals the more serious purpose. In reality this is a practice drill for the "Ham" and his equipment to determine dependability, portability and reliability.

Power is furnished from a portable generator, stations are operated in whatever is handy and antennae are erected from trees and poles.

The operation runs continuously for 24 hours. The people will be fed at their operating positions when possible.

A disaster or emergency would place this team of skilled communications experts at the disposal of such agencies as Civil Defense, national, state or local authorities or the Red Cross.

Amateur radio operators on a routine day to day basis handle thousands of messages to and from servicemen and their families with no charge. "Hams" also keep an eye on the weather and maintain communications networks to alert the proper authorities in the event of severe weather.

Visitors are welcome to "Field Day" Saturday, June 27, after 1:30 p.m. and Sunday, June 28, dawn until 12 noon. Station will be located on Prospect Hill, five miles northwest of Onsted.

Field Day For Radio Amateurs

Tri-State Amateur Radio Field Day exercises will be held near Tecumseh June 27 and 28. Starting time will be 4 p.m., Saturday, ending Sunday at 4 p.m.

Location is at the corner of Taylor Rd. and Carson Hwy., just off M-52, between US-12 and M-50.

This site was available through the cooperation of the Tecumseh Recreation Department.

There will be amateurs from different parts of the state participating in this event. They will be talking to other amateurs all over the world. There will be signs for directions to the site.

Event is open to the public.

LADY BALTIMORE ORIOLE, WEAVER

As explained in last week's discussion about the orioles, we know that a pair of the orange and black beauties are around. We have not, however, solved the mystery of where their nest is, or perhaps by now I should say, was located. The two towering old elms they used to favor are gone but fortunately, there is no lack of alternate building sites. Many of the trees, both those along the creek and lining Logan and Democratic Streets, are tall and have an abundance of the gracefully arching limbs that these birds seem to prefer.

We assume that weeks ago Lord Baltimore found a tree to his liking and, after pointing out all of its merits and advantages, convinced his good wife that yes, this was the neighborhood in which she would enjoy raising the family.

Lady B. does all of the nest building — weaving is the correct terms. What a fascinating thing that must be to watch. Those who have been fortunate enough to see her at work say that, after very carefully selecting a horizontal fork at the very end of a high and free-swaying branch, she loops anchor strands over one arm of the "Y".

Using strips of bark, weed stalks, bits of string, and anything else that is handy and suitable, she works at these anchor lines and weaves one side of her hanging nest. When this reaches the proper length, she repeats the process on the opposite arm of the fork.

★

THE REST IS inside work — "adding more and more strands, and at the same time binding and tucking material already present . . . . . she weaves an amazingly tight even fabric that forms the shell of the nest." All loose ends are tucked in and every knot tight.

Next she fills bottom of nest with plant down or some other soft cushioning material. Finally, and wouldn't you just love to see this, she hops into the nest where "with much energetic bouncing, (she) uses the round of her breast to mold the shell into its final shape."

What we were able to see her do this year was collect building material. On the creek bank, close to our screened-in porch, a rangy mulberry bush-tree grows. The smaller branches or twigs apparently have bark which is easily stripped off and oh, how our gal did make use of them.

She would find just the proper piece of bark and then pull. Once in a while she even had to tug. This was fun to watch because she was very determined.

An especially tough tug-of-war involved much fluttering of wings. This was the action which made a lie of the old cliche about female orioles being dull and rather colorless. Flamboyant, no, but lovely and soft, yes.

★

THE HANGING nests of the orioles are truly works of art and one of the many marvels of the bird world. I just can't conceive of such intricate work being done with no hands and no tools but only the bird's bill. Who of us could do it even using hands?

When finally all is in readiness, from four to six grayish-white eggs are laid. These eggs are irregularly speckled with brown, black or lavendar. Incubation takes from 12 to 14 days and only one brood is raised a year.

As might be expected, baby orioles are extremely quiet and well-behaved. At least for the first 10 or 11 days. But then they "make up for lost time". The two remaining days they spend at home are sheer bedlam.

Youngsters and parents stick together for a few days after the kids leave home then the family group splits up for good.

So it is that perhaps we should add devoted parent and capable housekeeper to the list of credits already given to Lady Baltimore Oriole, weaver.

BEHIND the COUNTER with CARL LAMB

WARTS

Cures for warts range from "the merely weird to the somewhat disgusting," it has been said. Your forefathers were urged to rub them with fresh lard, with milkweed juice, or with a grasshopper's "tobacco spit." Tom Sawyer believed that warts would be cured by burying a dead cat at midnight in a place where someone evil was buried.

Warts have been considered almost supernatural, in the way they come and go, but they are simply viral infections of the skin's outermost layer. They are not caused by contact with toads, but apparently can be affected by mere suggestion.

Warts most often occur on the hands, fingers, soles of the feet, the groin, and on the face and scalp. Treatment today depends on the location, size and number of warts.

One method is "cautery," by which the warts are dried up by sealing off the blood supply and nerve endings. An electric or super-cooled needle are used in this process, which seldom leaves a scar. Sometimes warts must be cut off, or an acid solution may be used to destroy them. Corn plasters may soften the warts so that they can then be scraped off.

Some doctors have hypnotized warty patients successfully, and suggestion therapy is widely used. Dr. E. W. Rosenberg, of Memphis, sometimes paints children's warts with a harmless ointment that glows under ultraviolet light. This "magic" convinces the children that the warts will disappear — and they do.

Girl Scout Camp Plans Schedule

With the advent of summer weather, thoughts of many youngsters turn toward summer camp. This is especially true of girls, ages seven thru 17 in the Jackson, Hillsdale, Lenawee Counties and the city of Albion, where plans are now underway for the 43rd summer operation of Irish Hills Girl Scout Council's Resident Camp, "Camp O' The Hills" on Wamplers Lake.

A staff of qualified college students has been employed to assist campers to enjoy a variety of activities during their two-week stay at camp. With their counselors, the girls plan a program including archery, arts and crafts, nature study, cook-outs, overnights and campfires. A full program of waterfront activities is also offered.

The girls enjoy periods of free swimming and boating, as well as lessons in swimming, boating and canoeing which entitle them to Red Cross Certificates upon successful completion of the course.

Special programs are being offered for Junior High girls, including a bicycle back-pack trip in the Traverse City area and a beginning canoe trip on the Manistee River. Also, plans are being made for an advanced canoe trip through Canada.

A new extra for all girls entering the sixth grade in the fall or older is an experimental program of horseback riding.

Registrations are still being accepted in all areas for all three sessions. Registration forms and additional information may be obtained from Irish Hills Girl Scout Council Office, 729 West Michigan Avenue, Jackson, or telephoning 517-784-8543.

LOOKING FOR GOD

Some say you find God just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church — that God is everywhere. But be honest about it.

Are you not more apt to think of weeds, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God? And after all, you have made this outing to seek pleasure.

But when you go to church, it is with the specific intention of worshipping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of a church you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this Sunday — make it a regular practice.

Project Rainfall

By Steve Church

Chuck Irwin, 16, is a third-year member of Project Rainfall and, like several others, has remained with the project since it was begun in 1968.

His records of the daily rainfall have been complete, as have those of most other participants in the project.

Born Feb. 8, 1954, at Herrick Hospital, Chuck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irwin. The family has always lived on their present residence on Downing Hwy., three miles northeast of Britton. Chuck has four sisters and one brother.

This is Chuck's sixth year in the Britton Macon 4-H Club and in those six years he has taken a dairy (6 yrs.), horses (3 yrs.) and Project Rainfall (3 yrs.).

In 1969 he participated in the Dairy Marketing Tour in the Detroit area. Chuck's favorite 4-H activity is the County Fair, waterfights and all!

He recently related how he once impaled his hand on a pitchfork in one of the fair buildings and promptly passed out. For Chuck, 4-H is a worthwhile and enjoyable experience — because you learn, meet a lot of kids, and have fun.

Though he's busy working for his grandfather on his 156-acre farm and going to Britton High School where he's a 10th grader, Chuck finds time to make daily observations of rainfall.

He says his dad is especially interested in knowing how much rainfall they have. Chuck and his dad enjoy the annual Project Rainfall reports which detail the variation in county rainfall. "It's interesting to see the difference in rainfall," comments Chuck.
